BEACHCOMBING THE BIG WAY

This is beachcombing the big way. The time has come for a clean-up at Sutherland Beach, Kelowna, so that it will be in better condition for the summer season. Here a C-2 loader gobbles up some stray logs for processing at the mill. The present low level of the lake makes it a good time for a clean-up. There were complaints last year that the beach was a mess. (Courier Photo)

Supreme Court Declines To Hear Injunction Bid

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia Supreme Court judge Thursday declined to hear an injunction application against Evergreen Press Ltd., which prints the B.C. edition of Time Magazine on the grounds that the basic issue involved—the validity of the provincial government's ban on liquor and tobacco advertising—is already before the courts awaiting decision.

Dari. Bader, who has been conducting a one-man legal fight against the legislation, had asked for the injunction against the firm to restrain it from printing the magazine containing the banned ads for distribution in B.C.

Mr. Justice A. A. Mackoff said that Mr. Justice E. E. Hinkson has reserved decision in another Supreme Court action dealing with the prohibition and that Mr. Bader will be in a better position to decide what court action to take when it is rendered.

Decision was reserved Feb. 25 in Vancouver in a test case launched by seven firms, including Time, challenging the validity of the legislation.

Four national tobacco companies and three publishing firms brought the action against Attorney-General Leslie Peterson, charging that the Tobacco Advertising Restriction Act and amendments to the Liquor Control Act exceeded the authority of the B.C. legislature.

Together, the companies seek a declaratory judgment that the legislation is invalid because it invades the federal field of criminal law, encroaches on freedom of speech, threatens inter-provincial trade and denies companies the right to maintain their identity through trademarks.

Out-of-province publications containing liquor and tobacco ads have continued to be sold in B.C. since the legislation took effect, while most newspapers and magazines published in the province have observed the ban.

Involved in the test case are

Benson and Hedges Canada Ltd., Imperial Tobacco Products Ltd., MacDonald Tobacco Marketing Ltd., Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Ltd., MacLean-Hunter Ltd., Time Canada Ltd. and Southstar Publishers Ltd.

An eighth firm, CFL Properties Ltd., which publishes Canadian Football League programs, dropped the action.

The Thin Edge Of Tyranny

In Victoria the legislature was told representatives of the news media in British Columbia should get together and form a media council in order to protect themselves from the Social Credit government.

Alex Macdonald, (NDP—Vancouver East) said the government's attitude and actions toward the press indicates that unless the media protects itself "that power."

Mr. Macdonald said the system of "rewards and punishments" the government uses is the thin edge of tyranny.

'Mercy' Flight By Charter Firms

TORONTO (CP)—A consortium of four air charter companies has come to the rescue of most of the 600 persons who booked transatlantic charter tickets with a company that suspended operations Wednesday, a spokesman for the consortium said Thursday night.

Elsewhere:

—An anonymous phone caller threatened the bombing of Allegheny Airlines flights in and out of Baltimore late Thursday. The caller demanded $50,000, but his 9 p.m. deadline passed without payment or incident.

—An Eastern Airlines plane made an emergency stop at Richmond, Va., after a threat. But a search turned up no bombs on the New York-to-Miami flight.

—San Juan airport officials searched an American Airlines cargo flight to New York after a caller said there was a bomb aboard. They found nothing.

—Three Delta Airlines jets were delayed in departures from Chicago, New York and St. Louis after phoned threats, but searchers discovered no bombs.

—A TWA jet bound for St. Louis from Washington and another flying from San Francisco to Louisville were searched at Louisville Thursday afternoon. No bombs were found.

—The airport at Reno, Nev., and later a Western Airlines plane at Reno was searched after a note found aboard declared the aircraft would be bombed.

Flights were delayed at many airports as the spate of threats continued and strict security slowed departures and arrivals.

The FAA, meanwhile, said it will require new communications systems between air crews and the ground, and between cockpits and cabins aboard planes.

While claiming federal programs have drastically cut the number of successful hijackings, Nixon said in a statement: "Our air-transportation system faces a new threat, in the form of vicious extortion plots like the ones which have been directed at air traffic across the country this week. We must not be intimidated by such lawlessness, rather we must and will meet this blackmail on the ground, as vigorously as we have met piracy in the air."

He said the federal mobilization will continue, and will be augmented as is necessary, "until the current threat is crushed."

Doctors Rap Le Dain

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia doctors said Thursday they believe the Le Dain Commission's report on drugs glossed over multiple drug users who they feel are swelling the province's heroin users.

In an analysis made by the B.C. Medical Association's drug habituation committee, doctors said users of many different kinds of drugs are more prone to turn to heroin than are chronic speed users.

They said the report's failure is a lack of a diagnosis, either of individual users or of the degree of the drug problem in Canada.

The association said, however that the deficiencies "are more a measure of the frustrating enormity of the task the commission was assigned than of the failure of the commission."

The doctors also criticized the commission's failure to discuss the effects of drug abuse on society and noted that although the report calls for emphasis on prevention and education, it never deals with availability of illicit drugs, which could be a major aspect of prevention.

Clearwater Area To Get Hospital

VICTORIA (CP)—The community of Clearwater, 70 miles north of Kamloops, received permission Thursday to build a 13-bed hospital.

Health Minister Ralph Lofmark announced that he has authorized the Wells-Grey Hospital Society to award a $208,635 contract for the hospital to Westwood Contractors Ltd. of Vancouver.

Attempts by the board to get a hospital erected in a heated debate in the legislature last year and the town lost its only doctor, Dr. Rudy Regehr, because approval was not given. Dr. Regehr has since indicated he will return from practicing in Alberta when the hospital is constructed.

Mr. Lofmark said his authorization was subject to the agreement of the Thompson-Nicola Regional Hospital District.

NEWS IN A MINUTE

Vancouver Denies Blame In Grain Glut

VANCOUVER (CP)—Port of Vancouver officials have agreed with the federal government's decision to stop, temporarily, taking orders for export grain that would move through here, but they claimed the blame for the overflow lies with the railways, not the port.

CTV Canadian Content May Be Less

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Radio-Television Commission proposed today lowering the minimum requirements for Canadian content on the CTV network in the prime time evening hours.

TORONTO (CP)—A former associate of the owner of a charter-flight company that left 600 persons without guaranteed flights was arrested Thursday and charged with fraud. Peter Thomas Wilby, 51, was arrested by Metropolitan Toronto's fraud squad after he arrived home from Antigua, British West Indies.

Minister Called A 'Bathtub Duck'

Auditor War Fades Out

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition attempts to take up the cudgels on behalf of Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson, who claims government parsimony prevents him from doing his job, wound up Thursday more with a whimper than with a bang.

Allan MacEachen, government House leader, ended a fractious 90 minutes in the Commons by adopting an opposition motion giving Mr. Henderson a hearing before the Commons public accounts committee.

This is the same forum where Mr. Henderson has been complaining for several years that by holding down pay levels for his staff while giving higher pay for similar work in other departments, the Liberal Trudeau government has kept him short of staff and prevented him from doing a proper job of checking into and documenting government spending mistakes.

Before Mr. MacEachen defused the situation with his offer of a special committee study of the complaints, the House waded through a procedural morass.

Five opposition MPs presented motions contending that privilege had been violated through non-presentation of Mr. Henderson's 1970-72 annual report, due by last Dec. 31, and by Prime Minister Trudeau's Commons statement Wednesday that Mr. Henderson is breaking the law.

SPEAKER ANNOYED

Heckling, interjections and jibes led an exasperated Speaker Lucien Lamoureux at one time to say "if this is the kind of House members want we could go on eternally."

Mr. MacEachen adopted the wording of a proposed motion by New Democratic Leader David Lewis, who had tangled Wednesday with Mr. Trudeau on Mr. Henderson's status.

Mr. Trudeau suggested then that he would be glad to see the whole question of Mr. Henderson's delayed report put before the public accounts committee and this is what the Lewis motion advocated.

It added a stipulation that the committee produce a special report by March 29 and Mr. MacEachen included that in making the motion on behalf of the government.

Opposition MPs gave it unanimous agreement.

Searing Attack In Victoria Made On Development Policy

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia legislature took time off from serious politics Thursday to engage in one of its favorite pastimes—poking fun at Industrial Development Minister Waldo Skillings.

Through four hours of afternoon debate and on into a night sitting, Mr. Skillings was called everything from Victoria's town fool to "a bathtub duck."

But as the debate wore on, interest dwindled, and at one point in the afternoon there were only 13 members in the 55-seat legislature—seven short of a quorum.

Robert Strachan (NDP—Cowichan-Malahat) expressed surprise that there was a public outcry in Vancouver a few years ago when the Canada Council approved a $3,000 grant to its self-styled town fool. After all, he pointed out, Mr. Skillings' salary is $20,000 a year.

He said Mr. Skillings had produced nothing in the last year except "big words, thin reports and meaningless statistics."

Mr. Strachan accused the government of favoring "hot house industries" that exploit public resources and ignoring small businessmen who are trying to start new companies or industries.

Garde Gardom (L—Vancouver-Point Grey) said Mr. Skillings is running "a department of rigor mortis" that is beyond resuscitation. While Mr. Skillings has always given MLAs a chance for a chuckle, he added, "it's a high price to pay for comic relief."

WALDO SKILLINGS

'big words, but ...'

Dave Brousson (L—North Vancouver-Capilano) said the government should provide low interest loans to develop secondary industry, as well as providing professional guidance and advice for small industries.

Although his business acquaintances are always asking what Mr. Skillings does, Mr. Brousson said, he has never been able to give them a satisfactory answer.

"Why has there been so much criticism of this particular minister?" asked Alex Macdonald (NDP—Vancouver East).

"He hasn't done anything. He's as useless as a bathtub duck—he's just a purveyor of statistics."

Canadiens Score In Hotel Blaze

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Smoke from a burning room on the top floor of the Hilton Inn across from Lambert-St. Louis International Airport forced evacuation early today of more than 100 guests, including members of Montreal Canadiens National Hockey League team.

Chief John Stuller of the suburban Overland police department said he knew of five injuries, mostly from smoke inhalation. One man was reported in serious condition from breathing the smoke.

"We have nothing but praise for the Canadian hockey players," Stuller said of the current Stanley Cup champions. "They really helped us."

Montreal ran its winning streak to eight games Thursday night, clipping St. Louis Blues 5-1 and moving within five points of idle second-place New York in the NHL's East Division.

Trainer Bob Williams said defenseman Serge Savard suffered a cut on the lower leg as he and other team members tried to rescue coach Scotty Bowman from his room on the fourth floor.

Savard was treated and released from hospital. Williams said he would not know until the team arrived in Montreal later today whether Savard would miss any games.

A hotel spokesman said the fire broke out about 1:50 a.m. CST in a room down the hall from where Bowman was staying. He said he did not know who was registered in the room "but it was not a member of the Canadiens."

Cause of the fire was undetermined. Authorities estimated damage at $25,000.

FREED

Robert Norette, above, a Renault Motor Co. official, kidnapped by Maoist militants in Paris Wednesday has been freed. Police found Norette in a left bank laundry shop, where he had phoned his wife after being freed. The Maoists had termed him the "hand of justice" at the car plant. They demanded jailed Maoists be turned loose as a condition of Norette's freedom. This was rejected.

Okanagan Received Boosts

Liberal leader Pat McGeer said the federal government's regional incentive programs have helped bring new secondary industries to the Okanagan and the Kootenays.

"It's been proved again and again in B.C. that an incentive program will attract new industries to the most unexpected communities," Dr. McGeer said.

He urged the government to set up some kind of incentive program of its own to bring secondary industry to selected areas of the province.

In reply to demands from

NDP members for copper and steel smelters in B.C., Mr. Skillings said that an Italian group that is working on a new copper smelting process is about a year away from producing a smelter design that would meet B.C.'s pollution control standards.

In addition, he said, West German interests are doing a feasibility study of a steel smelter for this province. The recent revamp of the German mark has made such a project more attractive to the German steel industry, said Mr. Skillings.

Spain Has Some Objections Concerning Geoffroys Return

MONTREAL (CP)—The slow-turning wheels of justice in Spain may delay the return to Canada of Yves Geoffroy, despite his decision to return voluntarily, it was learned Thursday.

In the Quebec national assembly, Justice Minister Jerome Choquette said the Spanish government has raised objections to returning Geoffroy to Canada without extradition proceedings, although a provincial government lawyer has obtained the voluntary consent of Geoffroy and his wife, the former Carmen Parent, to return voluntarily.

"But since the Spanish government seems unwilling to deport the Geoffroy couple without having extradition procedures instituted ... it could become necessary for the Canadian government ... to institute such procedures," Mr. Choquette said.

Just how, if and when he would be returned to Canada has been a question mark since the international manhunt for the convicted wife-slayer ended with his arrest in Barcelona earlier this week.

Nixon Asks For Action To Thwart Airline Plots

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials of the 29 biggest airlines were called to Washington today to help thwart what President Nixon called "vicious extortion plots" against the carriers.

Nixon acted Thursday to require immediate implementation of new rules aimed at keeping dangerous individuals, weapons or bombs off scheduled airliners. The new procedures were due to take effect three months from now.

It was a $2-million blackmail attempt against TWA and the planting of two bombs aboard a jet liner—only one exploded—that prompted Nixon to aim for safety of air transport.

In New York, TWA's president, F. C. Wiser, said there has been "no contact with the extortionist since Tuesday evening and no ransom has been paid."

PART NEW METHOD

Wiser also said TWA had tried a new, more-intensive search method, but found nothing further.

Elsewhere:

Oil Pipeline On Land 'Best'

Patrick McTaggart-Cowan, the man who cleaned up Canada's largest oil spill at sea, says the best way to move oil from Alaskan oilfields is by pipeline along the Mackenzie River Valley then south through Alberta or British Columbia to the United States. "I would far sooner deal with a spill from a pipeline because it is on land," Mr. Taggart-Cowan, executive director of Canada's National Science Council, said. He also called for stiffer regulations governing ocean shipping. He said research now going on in the Canadian Arctic indicates an oil pipeline over tundra could be a practical, efficient and safer alternative to shipping oil by tanker along the West Coast.

Mary Ament, 18, charged with non-capital murder, was found not guilty Thursday in the death of her room-mate and best friend, Brigitte Jahn, 17, whose decomposed body with a bullet in the head was found July 8 in a car trunk in a service station lot. The all-male Ontario Supreme Court jury deliberated four hours after it was told by Miss Ament that Miss Jahn was shot accidentally by a 25-calibre Biretta automatic while the two had been high on the drug MDA in their Toronto apartment.

Over-taxed port facilities at Vancouver may have forced the Canadian wheat board to temporarily stop taking orders for export from there, Justice Minister Otto Lang told the Commons Thursday. He said the port of Vancouver "because sales already made have taxed the port to its limit, may have ceased offering deliveries for a particular period of time to particular countries." Such a move would force the wheat board, for which he is responsible, to stop taking orders.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Thursday in Victoria, he will support Real Caouette, the national Social Credit leader, in the next federal election. Asked in an interview if this meant he will donate money to Mr. Caouette's campaign, the 71-year-old Social Credit premier said: "I give my services." Mr. Bennett said he recommends the voters of B.C. support any candidate in the province that stands the best chance of "beating the Trudeau candidate."

A 20-year-old man was charged in Vancouver with public mischief Thursday after he allegedly made a remark about blowing up a CP Air plane on which he was a passenger Wednesday night. A man who gave his name variously as Brent Gerard D'Amour, Kenneth David Gee and Robert Edward Kennedy, was arrested after the plane, en route from Honolulu, landed safely at Vancouver International Airport.

About 1,000 gallons of bunker oil were spilled into Nanoco Harbor Thursday from HMCS Galathea as fuel was being transferred from one tank to another. A defence department spokesman said about 300 service men were looking after the clean up, using peat moss booms and commercial absorbents. The ship will remain in the harbor, about 15 miles north of Nanaimo, until the oil is cleaned up.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Thursday urged Finance Minister John Turner to take immediate steps to drastically reduce interest rates at the Bank of Canada and Canadian chartered banks. In a telegram to the minister, Mr. Bennett from Victoria said this action is needed because the current high value of the Canadian dollar is seriously damaging the export business and having a detrimental effect on the labor force.

Air Canada in Montreal says an unidentified caller threatened Thursday to place a bomb aboard one of its aircraft if Jacques Rose, on trial for the Oct. 10, 1970, kidnapping of Pierre Laporte, is not freed. The spokesman said the call was made to an Air Canada office in Windsor, Ont. He said that RCMP have been called in on the matter and that "several of our planes" in the Windsor area have been searched. He said no bomb was found and that no arrests have been made.

J. Ernest Richardson, chairman of the British Columbia Telephone Co. said Thursday in Vancouver the destruction of Canada's economic system might occur at the bargaining table. Mr. Richardson, speaking at the annual meeting of shareholders, said "there must be some sanity brought to the bargaining table by the trade union movement throughout Canada and this province."

A Conservative back-bencher complained Thursday in the Commons that the word royal has been dropped from defence department advertisements for military colleges. Douglas A. Kenbrack (PC-Frontenac-Lennox and Addington) held up in the Commons a magazine advertisement in which the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.; Royal Roads, Victoria, and College Militaire, St. Jean Que., were referred to collectively as "the military colleges."

Defence contracts were one reason why United States-owned companies received more government research grants in 1969 than Canadian-owned firms, Industry Minister Jean-Luc Pepin told the Commons Thursday. He said the department gives research grants to companies without reference to their country of ownership. Mr. Pepin was replying to New Democrat Leader David Lewis, who referred to a recent industry department report.

Seven persons from British Columbia and one each from Ontario and New Brunswick have been awarded Carnegie Hero Fund bronze medals in Pittsburgh for heroic rescue acts. The awards, announced today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, go to F. G. Engstrom and Irwin Gelsinger, Williams Lake; T. A. Bates, Langley; R. D. Crothers, Esquimalt; J. R. Blyth and D. J. Blyth, Victoria; P. A. Brown, Rural Route 1, Victoria; D. W. Harris, Thunder Bay, Ont.; and J. L. Crane, Fredericton.

In Santa Monica, Calif., Anna Kashfi, ex-wife of actor Marlon Brando, was arrested and charged with public drunkenness aboard a bus Thursday as Brando filed suit to regain custody of their teen-age son, Christian. Miss Kashfi, arrested in El Centro, Calif., 120 miles southeast of Los Angeles and near the Mexican border, pleaded not guilty to charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace and was released on $750 bail.

China's new ambassador to Canada Yao Kuang, arrived in Ottawa Thursday night to a pre-planned and smooth official welcome.

CHRETIEN SAYS:

Quote Wrong In Quilt Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien was confronted Thursday by member of the Fred Quilt committee, angered by the accidental death verdict in the controversial death of the 55-year-old Chinook Indian.

As committee members shouted, the minister told them he was incorrectly quoted about the case of Mr. Quilt, a member of the Stone Band of the Chilcotins who died in hospital in Williams Lake Nov. 30 of infection from a perforated intestine.

An inquest jury ruled the death accidental, but Indian leaders allege he was beaten two days before he died by two RCMP officers from the Alexis Creek detachment in central B.C.

Mr. Chretien was quoted as saying in Victoria that British Columbia administered justice satisfactorily in handling allegations that Mr. Quilt was injured by RCMP officers.

He said he couldn't have made such a statement because he is not familiar with the case.

B.C. supervising coroner Glen McDonald is reviewing the case on orders from Attorney-General Leslie Peterson.

The committee plans to go to Victoria today to ask Mr. Peterson to re-open the case.

THRONE SPEECH

Mixed Bag Of Goodies On Offer In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — A new labor code, increased workmen's compensation benefits, a beefed-up summer employment program for students and more help for farmers were among measures promised Thursday in the speech from the throne opening the Manitoba legislature.

The speech, read by Lt.-Gov. W. J. McKeag, also promised establishment of a women's bureau in the department of labor, improved treatment facilities for alcoholics and drug addicts and an investigation of all major aspects of welfare policy.

The speech opened the fourth legislative session under Premier Ed Schreyer's New Democratic Party government which came to power in June, 1969.

In addition to outlining new programs, it focused on past achievements of the Schreyer administration and spoke in glowing terms of the province's relative economic position.

"My government has informed me that the past year gave much evidence of the continuing and growing strength of the Manitoba economy. Preliminary estimates indicate that the annual gross income of our province last year exceeded $4 billion for the first time in history."

For this reason, the speech said, the government will follow "a policy of selective economic growth." An economic and industrial development study for the next decade is being prepared, and will concentrate on "the concepts of selectivity in growth."

FATHER PROCEDURES

On labor matters, the speech said the new labor code will be designed "to bring about more enlightened and fair labor-management procedures."

The women's bureau will be established "to deal with the reality of the increasing number of women in our labor force." Also, the speech said, the minimum wage board is meeting to consider "further adjustment" of the minimum wage, now $1.65 an hour.

Aid to farmers included promises of improved farm marketing legislation, expansion of a federal-provincial farm water and sewer program and additional grants to encourage expansion of sheep and cattle herds and butter and cheese production.

Students, in addition to being promised "a major student employment program on a scale exceeding any similar program in the past," are to have student aid and bursary programs revised and expanded.

The speech also makes special note of the government's public automobile insurance program, approved by the legislature two years ago and implemented last fall.

"As with any undertaking of this magnitude and complexity, administrative problems and difficulties were encountered. Now that the plan is launched into its first full year of operation, further refinements to the system will be made."

The speech said the study of welfare policy is to be carried out through "the desire to have facts replace impressions and to have a more precise definition of the concept of reciprocal obligations of the individual and society."

The speech also promises a policy paper on health care trends, a board of appeal for medical staff courtesy privileges at hospitals and legislation to permit "under specified conditions" substitution of prescription drugs by pharmacists in an attempt to lower consumer costs.

For isolated Northern communities, the speech promises an expansion of job-creating efforts, road building—including completion of a link between Lynn Lake, Leaf Rapids and Thompson—negotiations with the CBC for network television for 13 communities by 1975 and training programs to meet medical and dental needs of Northern residents.

In addition, in view of rapid industrial development of Northern Manitoba, legislation will be introduced "to create a climate whereby there will be greater industry-wide concern for the safety of employees."

INCREASE GRANTS

Other items mentioned in the speech included:

- Increases in grants in lieu of taxes to municipalities on provincial buildings;
- Improvements to the Greater Winnipeg floodway as a recreational resource;
- Expansion of local and long distance telephone communications in the North;
- A New Clean Environment Act;

Canada Hasn't Told Aussies Views On Most Wanted Man

SYDNEY, Australia (CP-Reuters) — Raymond Joseph Palmer, the RCMP list of Canada's most-wanted men was remanded today for a further seven days to reappear in federal court here next Friday.

A defence request for bail was denied. The defence told the court it had been 16 days since Canadian authorities were notified of Palmer's capture and there still was no word from them.

Palmer, 36-year-old convict who escaped from the British Columbia penitentiary in January, 1970, while serving a six-year sentence for possession of stolen bonds, has been in Australia for two years, works as a roofing contractor and is married, the court was told.

However, Magistrate R. Anable said Palmer is being held and charged under the Extradition (Commonwealth) Countries Act and could not be released under its terms at this time.

MUST REAPPEAR
The act stipulates that Palmer must reappear in court every seven days until the issue of extradition is decided in both Australia and Canada at court hearings.

Palmer was arrested in a dawn swoop by Australian federal and state police at his Sydney home on March 3 while fixing breakfast for his family.

Two pistols and ammunition were found in his garage. He pleaded guilty to their possession and was fined $200 by the court last Friday.

Part of a large audience listens to a discussion of pollution Thursday night. At right is Bill Horswill, whose contract is not being renewed March 31.

Did Success Cause The Axe To Fall?

A citizen's committee may be formed to investigate why the Okanagan Basin Water Study group is not renewing the contract of its public relations consultant, Bill Horswill, who leaves March 31.

At the end of a packed meeting in the Elks' Hall on Pandosy Street, people were asked to leave names and telephone numbers if they wished to be contacted for another meeting. The consultant suggested he was fired because study officials were afraid the public relations program was becoming too successful, and the public might demand that other policies be developed.

He charged there is overlapping among water management programs, and that a consultative board with three representatives from each of the senior governments had "sat on" reports presented by study personnel, or had them rewritten.

At his Penticton office, study director Murray Thomson said a statement might be made at a press conference Monday.

The Thursday night meeting was arranged by Mr. Horswill as part of his campaign for public involvement in the study. His firing was announced later.

WILL STAY

Mr. Horswill said he plans to remain in the Okanagan Valley, and possibly be associated with a "grass roots" organization connected with the study.

He said his assistants—Lynn Atkins, Ian Crawford and Howard Smith—were asked to remain with the study, but have decided to quit.

The study, financed by the federal and provincial governments, has 18 months to go. Mr. Horswill was hired in August, two years after the study began. The assistants were hired later.

Mr. Horswill quoted a superior as saying "I'm more concerned with the study than with the community."

Most scientific work has been done, and co-ordinators are sorting out data. At one time about 100 scientists were involved in the study.

His services were terminated by the group at a Vancouver meeting after slides collected by Mr. Horswill and his assistants were shown at a technical seminar. The slides, part of the Thursday meeting, were mainly of Okanagan Lake.

The study resulted largely because citizens were concerned about the lake, said Ald. William Kane, moderator of the meeting. He is a director of the Regional District of Central Okanagan and the Okanagan Basin Water Board, which consists of representatives from the three regional districts.

DREW YOUNG PEOPLE

The meeting, which drew mainly young people, began with a general discussion about pollution. Ald. Kane said the water board has no authority, and Kelowna city council has been asking for two years to have it given authority to carry out recommendations of the study.

The moderator said the Okanagan Lake Bridge was a main cause of pollution, since it altered currents.

He said the B.C. pollution control director, William Venables, ordered Kelowna to allow industrial sewage to be mixed with residential sewage. The city appealed this and won. As a result, Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd., spent $250,000 for pollution control equipment at its plant opened last year in the industrial park. A trade waste treatment plant to be constructed on Brent's Creek will be paid for by industries.

Companies that install pollution control equipment got tax rebates for two years, Mr. Horswill added.

Another man pointed out 6,000 gallons of oil a day ends up in the lake. Ald. Kane said council has told service stations to put in proper guards.

Mr. Horswill said Okanagan Lake is still okay but "I wouldn't drink the water around Kelowna."

The audience learned 90 per cent of the water is used for irrigation, but a quarter of the agricultural land has been removed, and one-third of the remaining farm land will also be taken.

The high rate of return by tourists was also cited. A quarter of the visitors asked during the summer how many times they had visited the Okanagan during the last five years replied "every year."

GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY

OMMA Backs Vernon Stand On Weed Clean-Up Issue

By BRYDEN WINSBY
Courier Staff

SUMMERLAND—The Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association has gone on record as supporting the city of Vernon's contention that the provincial government has the responsibility to eliminate the weed problem in the Okanagan lake chain.

A request by the Okanagan Basin Water Board that the government take part in a weed harvesting program on Okanagan Lake was turned down recently by resources minister, Ray Williston.

Vernon mayor Stuart Fleming was to meet with Mr. Williston this morning concerning the problem.

At Thursday's quarterly meeting of OMMA in Summerland, he told delegates, "The minister may have tried to soften the government's position, as it has a considerable investment in water studies on the lake, and may not take action until they are complete."

But while the study continues, said Mr. Fleming, considerable seriously affected by weed growth, and while the government awaits results of the study and the recommendations, it's got to undertake weed harvesting and remove the hazard from the lake."

The basic problem, he said, is that the government does not have the legislative authority to remove weed from the lake, "but we believe they have the responsibility to remove it."

"I think the government is trying to wretch out of it's responsibility," commented Kelowna mayor Hilbert Roth.

Smoking Issue Smoulders On

Smoke rings are still curling around a cigarette ban at Kelowna Secondary School.

School trustee, Jack Brown, told the board Thursday a recent confirmation supporting authorization of school custodians to direct offenders to confine their nicotine endeavors to specified areas, had not reached adult education officials.

He said the practice of adult education students attending courses in the school to smoke in hallways and other non-smoking areas were being ignored and sometimes defended by adult education officials who apparently have not been apprised of the board's ruling.

At the last meeting of the board, Mr. Brown had asked that custodians be given authority to take action on cigarette offenders in non-smoking school areas, and the board had confirmed custodians already had such authority.

The board approved a motion by Mr. Brown the adult education office be informed that smoking be controlled to specified areas, and that school custodians have authority to enforce the cigarette ban.

ALDERMEN ADVISED TO BEWARE OF CUPE WAGE ENTANGLEMENT

It's all right for Kelowna city fathers to get a pay increase, but it shouldn't be tied-in with the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce director, Douglas MacLachlan, told the regular meeting Thursday he was in agreement with more pay for city council but felt there was a "conflict of interest" when CUPE tailored its wage demand along the same lines as remuneration to city council.

He warned there was danger of "some aspiring politician accusing council of going to bed with CUPE," adding the union should be free to negotiate its own salary.

Chamber vice-president, Larry Salloum, sitting in for absent president, David Chapman, suggest a member of city council attend the next chamber meeting to pursue the matter further. Ald. W. J. C. Kane was picked as a likely candidate since he was the most "knowledgeable".

Other agenda business included confirmation of dinner meeting with Okanagan/Boundary MP Bruce Howard, March 23. Directors also agreed to write Premier W. A. C. Bennett for possible meeting with the chamber during Chamber of Commerce Week, April 16 to 22.

The meeting was also informed by Norman Williams of a goodwill tour by 35 Spokane businessmen April 26.

Special guest at the meeting was Kenneth Miller, manager of the local Industrial Development Bank, who showed a film on IDB operation.

Rutland's Image Being Maligned Charges Chamber

The Rutland Chamber of Commerce isn't happy with the way it says Rutland's image is being maligned in various news media and the Kelowna city council.

In a letter to Mayor Hilbert Roth, dated Tuesday, Mrs. Birt Showler, secretary of the Rutland chamber, says residents and taxpayers are "daily growing more concerned and irate over items in local newspapers and over the air concerning the future welfare of residents in this community."

She adds the community is being discussed by Kelowna city fathers "as if we are poor relations who are unable to look after ourselves and who they (council) suggest are becoming a tax burden they cannot afford."

"How, if we are not paying our way now, could we possibly do this jointly with financial success? Or is it some new benevolence that prompted all this interest in Rutland—that is now going to subsidize the rural areas and help give us poor folks a better way of life," the letter further declares.

Mrs. Showler continues: "Many of us lived our whole lives in this fine Valley, and some of us have admired the manner in which the city of Kelowna, in particular, has been able to maintain its services and a well-planned city without an unreasonable tax burden, at least until the last few years."

"The letter observes that 'now, when it appears there is financial difficulty the implication is made that because the outside area is riding 'tax free,' the city taxes must be raised.'"

"If and when people in rural areas decide to incorporate, she emphasizes, 'they will do it by their own individual decision.'"

In the meantime, the letter reminds, "remarks and accusations such as have been banded about irresponsibly in the past year or two, and especially in recent weeks, will only make people think long and hard about voting in favor of any joint civic and regional financing schemes, let alone jumping into the frying pan of civic financing they cannot afford to pay for."

The concluding portion of the letter notes Rutland, included with Ellison-Belgo, consists of 12,000 residents and taxpayers which have, for years, "supported merchants in the city of Kelowna, as they well know, and with business competition as it is today, antagonism toward the rural areas could have costly results if the present attitude and type of comment continues."

The letter concludes with the suggestion that "surely a more amicable and reasonable manner can be developed to solve our mutual problems for the benefit of all concerned."

"We are continually hearing that this regional area and most other regional areas adjacent to cities and municipalities are not paying their fair share of the tax dollar," Mrs. Showler emphasized. "In the next breath they suggest that services such as recreational facilities, fire protection, sewage, and garbage disposal, could perhaps be run by the regional district, with cities contributing to the costs," she added.

Sewage Fund Idea Shelved

The Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association has temporarily shelved action on a Vernon resolution for the establishment of a $15 million self-perpetuating fund to assist municipalities and regional districts in the construction and operation of sewage treatment services.

Drawn up in February, the resolution maintains that because it establishes the standards and demands the collection of solid waste material and since the costs for these services—borne by the municipalities and regional districts—continue to rise, the government should help out.

The Vernon proposal would see a $10-$15 million fund set up and made available through long-term loans, of from 20 to 25 years, at an interest rate not to exceed three per cent per annum, for the construction and operation of sewage systems.

Although the resolution was tabled until the May meeting of OMMA, it has already met with favorable reaction, particularly from Kelowna Mayor Hilbert Roth.

"Every taxpayer in Kelowna," he told delegates attending a meeting Thursday in Summerland, "now spends $50 per household unit for sewage treatment—how far can we push these people?"

"I feel the provincial government has to assume some of the responsibility to help solve the problem—and not produce one of those fancy Chinese puzzles that Mr. Bennett recently came up with."

Revelstoke Resolution Supported

A Revelstoke resolution that the provincial government be urged to get on with a program for proposed Downie Creek and Revelstoke Canyon dams was accepted Thursday by the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association.

Revelstoke city council maintains that when construction of the Mica dam is completed later this year, a large number of workmen will be laid off, seriously affecting the economy of the southern area of the province.

Since B.C. Hydro has already made studies for proposed construction of further dams on the Columbia River, the government should be strongly urged, the resolution says, to immediately make further studies of the two sites, with the main aim being an early start on construction.

SEEN and HEARD

Our gremlin did it again. A headline "McNair heads city Lions" appeared Thursday over a story about Dr. F. E. McNair being made president of the Kelowna Rotary Club.

At the annual meeting of the E.C. Grape Marketing Board, chairman Edna Raikes of Okanagan Mission read the first half of a seven-page report. Secretary L. R. Stephens then took over, until the last paragraph, a commendation of himself, which Mr. Raikes read.

It seems that mothers aren't the only ones who have to handle the occasional little emergencies that arise with preschoolers. Seen on Bernard Avenue Thursday was a harried father who was trying unsuccessfully to yank up the pants of his young son. That's not easy when your hands are full of packages, and the target is moving away. To make his day complete, his other small son kept going up the street despite the father's protest. In fact, the boy turned around and pointed his toy pistol at his father in answer to the command to wait.

Monty Michael Zahara of Kelowna, was fined $300 and his driving privileges suspended for a month after he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Franklin F. Sharpe of Kelowna was fined $250 for driving without insurance, and $75 for driving without a driver's licence. He admitted these charges, laid Jan. 14 after his car was in collision with a train at the Richter Street crossing.

Kenneth John Andersen of Rutland admitted stealing three bales of hay Thursday. He was remanded until Monday for sentence.

Kevin John O'Neill and Robert Allan Holitzki of Kelowna reserved plea until March 17 on a charge of possessing hashish, laid today.

Edward Sandy of Rutland also reserved plea until then on an impaired driving charge, laid Feb. 18.

Roth Renamed OMMA Director

Penticton mayor Frank Laird was re-elected Thursday as chairman of the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association. Fat Duke of Lumby is vice-chairman. Hilbert Roth of Kelowna, Oscar Donke of Revelstoke and Dave Summers of Kamloops are directors.

'OUTREACH' EXPANSION

there is no rigid schedule — youngsters are encouraged to experiment with a new craft or to take part in whatever thing he or she chooses on a particular evening, whether it be cooking, sports or arts and crafts.

The activity program for boys and girls provided through the Boys' Club of Kelowna has burst it's seams and is reaching out to outlying districts and to new areas in the city.

In addition, new programs of arts and crafts are being offered in the six centres which operated prior to the expansion. This was all made possible through a Local Initiatives Grant of $17,000. A grant of $4,000 from the Central Okanagan Regional District Board, along with a grant of $6,000 from the Kelowna and District Community Chest, provides an operating budget for the Boys' Club.

The detached worker is helping these young people to develop the kind of program meaningful to them and at the same time able to inform them of existing programs they may not be aware of. They are also doing some individual counseling.

Since Local Initiatives grants terminate in May, there may be difficulties for the workers to develop a meaningful relationship with young people in such a short period of time. However, club directors and officials will be continuously evaluating the progress and hope it will give enough information as to whether or not this is an effective method of reaching these unknowns. If so, it may be continued under the Opportunities for Youth program in the summer months.

All aspects of the expansion programs made available through these grants are being scrutinized carefully by the board of directors, which includes president, Richard Pearse; secretary-treasurer, Darryl Scriber; vice-president, Dan Soberg, who is also program committee chairman. Mrs. Donald Beaver is also a member of the executive. Board members are Mr. and Mrs. Grant Sherriff, Jim Runzer, William Eton and Ken Reiger.

Since some of these people may be leaving next year, the club is always looking for new members interested in this kind of community work with youth.

With the expansion of club centres, as well as program activities, there is a need for more directors to head up committees and to lessen the load of responsibility for the nine who presently spearhead the project.

One Hurt In Mishap

One person was reported injured in a two-vehicle collision Thursday on McKenzie Road near Reid's Corner. Police had no further information.

Damage in three other accidents was estimated at $1,700. Lance Tanner and Gertrude Krowker of Kelowna were driving vehicles in collision Thursday afternoon on Bernard Avenue. Damage estimate was $900.

About $100 damage was caused in each of two Thursday accidents. The first, in the morning, at Ethel Street and Clement Avenue, involved vehicles driven by Lyle Wyant and Charlotte Crawford of Kelowna.

The second, in the afternoon, was on Boucherle Road in Westbank. Drivers were Roberta Williamson, Westbank, and David Percy, Kelowna.

No Word On Talks

City hall officials and aldermen met with officials of the Canadian Pacific Railways and its subsidiary, Marathon Realty, Wednesday on development of beach property.

However, a spokesman said today that while he felt the meeting was "extremely valuable" in CPR-city dealings, there were no definite commitments made and he could make no statement on the talks.

The city, as a continuing effort towards development of property occupied by the CPR and surrounding area including the city-owned seaplane base, has been negotiating with the railway for removal of its facilities during the past several years.

Last year, a notice to vacate was posted and a lease agreement has since expired which the CPR has asked the city to renew. The city would also like to acquire and possibly rezone some property held by the CPR in the area.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NO GUARANTEE

Sir: Before Kaiser starts mining coal for Japanese interests he is given a guaranteed market and price as well as special concessions from our government before he starts development.

Before White Trucks and McGavin's bread took over Jim Spall's farm and the other farms, they were granted tax and other special inducements which Jim and his other farmers and their heirs were unable to obtain.

Before Hiram Walker set up their distillery in our Valley special concessions were granted them.

Now, the wineries, anticipating an increase in demand for their products, are, with support from both federal and provincial governments, urging the grape growers to expand their acreage in vineyards.

But the wineries will not guarantee to take the crop or guarantee a price even if the growers plant the varieties they recommend. Nor does either government offer special concessions to growers willing to expand or to start vineyards.

Obviously although all Canadians are equal, some are more equal than others.

Farmers should demand real equality with other industries. Perhaps, low cost loans from the government; no tax on land or improvements until the vines come to production; reduced taxation until capital costs are recovered; no tax on wine, posts and other materials essential to expand already established or to establish new vineyards.

And, for the wineries, the same guarantee given by the Japanese to Kaiser; a guaranteed market and price from the wineries.

Is coal mining a more important industry than agriculture?

Yours truly,
FRANK SNOWSELL

HARMONY . . .

Sir: In consideration of the humanitarian aspects of the Geofroy case, would it be possible for the happy couple to be lodged in the same apartment of the correctional institution? It is also suggested that the children of the pair together with any future issue of this union be accommodated in a nearby suite.

In view of the prime minister's express wish that the state has no business in the bedroom of the nation, adequate curtaining should be provided to, insure appropriate privacy. In this way it is hoped that they may live in matrimonial harmony and conjugal bliss.

Yours truly,

BOOK CORNER

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

On Oct. 14, 1935, the voters of Canada told Richard Bedford Bennett he had failed. He had not, as five years before he had said he would, solved the unemployment problem brought on by the worldwide Depression.

The multi-millionaire bachelor lawyer gave up leadership of the Conservative party and retired to Britain where, in 1941, he became a viscount. He died June 26, 1947.

W. L. Mackenzie King, riding back into power, did not solve the problem, either, and a decade of widespread misery with millions of unemployed throughout the world dragged on until the first shots of the Second World War ushered in a new technological age.

In The Wretched of Canada, L. M. Grayson and Michael Bliss pose a question: Did Prime Minister Bennett realize what was happening to the country he governed?

They suggest he did not and quote a letter he wrote in October, 1931:

"The people are not bearing their share of the load. How a century ago, people would work their way out of their difficulties rather than look to a government to take care of them. The fibre of some of our people has grown softer and they are not willing to turn in and save themselves."

"They now complain because they have no money. When they were earning money many of them spent it in speculation and in luxury."

TWELVE OF 100 IDEAS

Grayson, a student of history at the University of Toronto, and Bliss, a teacher in the university's history department, preface their story of the people who suffered most in the Depression with an introduction that sometimes is bitter and here and there sarcastic.

"The story is told in 168 letters written to Bennett while in office by people in all parts of the country. The letters reflect the widespread poverty of the times, the hunger, the endless search for a job of any kind that was not there."

At the low point of the Depression, from 1933 through 1936, about 12 per cent of the population was on relief and another three per cent depended upon some other form of welfare. On the Prairies, farm income dropped from $363 million a year to less than $10.7 million in 1931.

The authors say the 168 letters reprinted in The Wretched of Canada were culled from several thousand in the R. B. Bennett Papers in the Public Archives of Canada. They sought to preserve approximately the same proportions of letters from regions, age and occupational groups. Some names and locations are disguised to preserve a writer's privacy.

Typical of the letters published is the first one in the book, from Thomas M. Gibbs, Sarnia, Ont.:

Dear Sir: I am taking this privilege in my own hands of writing you which a person of my class should be ashamed to take such authority. But I am down and out and do not know what to do. We have six children and I don't believe it right to see them suffer for the want of food I tried everywhere to get things for them to eat this is Saturday and I must say we have to go all day Sunday with but one small meal that is dry bread and apple sauce which we have day after day the apples will soon run out then we will be out of luck. I asked for assistance from the township they never came near me.

I was in the second Canadian Infantry Battalion as a private. I wrote to London see if I could get relief there. Enclosed you will find a copy which they sent me. I will not take up too much of your time just now. But in my case I am a good worker but the work is not to be had. My name has been in the employment office since June but there is no jobs coming in so I have to do something myself soon I hate to go out and steal but the family can't starve to death. I am a butcher by trade and know cattle, and understand them thoroughly. Also farmed for twelve years. Am willing to go anywhere to work if there is anything at all you can possibly do for me this will be greatly appreciated if there is any doubt these statements call Sarnia 1154 that will be Mr. A.E. Palmer Employment Bureau. Kindly over look the privilege I'm taking I think this is my last chance to get help. If this fails I do not know what we will do.

Thanking you very kindly in advance.

The reply, in part, from the private secretary of the prime minister:

"As you know, money was voted by Parliament at the special session for the purpose of providing unemployment relief. This is arranged, in the first instance, through the municipalities, which takes it up with the province, and then it is placed before the Dominion Government."

"I suggest that you give the details of your case to the municipal authorities in Sarnia, and ask them to assist you in your difficulties."

Top Ottawa Political Game Is Picking Election Date

OTTAWA (CP) — There has never been a federal general election in May, the only month in which a national vote has never been held.

As of Wednesday, the earliest possible date for an election is May 8.

Federal elections must be held on a Monday, except when that Monday is a federal or provincial holiday, in which case the election day is Tuesday.

Consequently, there can be no election this year on Monday, June 26. It is a provincial holiday in Newfoundland.

By the same token, there can be no election this year on Monday, Aug. 7, a civic holiday in some provinces; on Monday Sept. 4, Labor Day, or Monday, Oct. 9, Thanksgiving Day.

All these snippets of information are part of Ottawa's chief political game at the moment: Pick the election date.

TUESDAY LAST TIME

The last election was held Tuesday, June 25, 1968. The previous day, Monday, was St. Jean Baptiste Day in Quebec.

Enumeration of voters for an election must start 49 days before election day.

Preparation for enumeration takes about 10 days but can be done in eight, which means the minimum time between election call and election day is 57 days.

The normal time between the naming of the day and the day itself is 60 days, however.

This year, an election May 15 or May 23—Monday, May 22, will be a holiday—appears unlikely because the enumeration process would come during the Easter weekend.

Strike Injures Britain

LONDON (CP) — Some of Britain's worst fears about the hidden costs of the country's recent coal strike are being confirmed as one company after another announces price increases and startling losses from the prolonged crisis.

One of the hardest-hit firms is the giant government-owned British Steel Corp. The company predicts a loss of more than £120 million ($312 million) for the year ending March 31.

The Financial Times says "a large part of this deficit, which is much higher than anticipated at the turn of the year, can be attributed to costs incurred during the coal strike."

The government-operated coal board has announced a 7½-per cent increase in fuel coal prices beginning March 26. Despite the increase, however, the board is still likely to have a deficit of more than £100 million ($260 million) in the coming year, caused mainly by the strike.

CAUSED BLACKOUTS

The government strike, which ended officially Feb. 25, led to a national shortage of electricity, causing blackouts throughout the country and forcing industry to operate on a three-day week.

Millions were temporarily thrown out of work.

British Rails say the coal strike caused losses of £10 million to £12 million. The state-owned firm plans to raise fares by at least five per cent and freight rate increases are likely to follow.

In addition, British Rail faces demands from 200,000 railmen for wage increases of more than 10 per cent. The railmen, like teachers, nurses and a host of other unions seeking increases, have been encouraged to seek hefty raises by the 20-per-cent award made to the miners.

BIBLE BRIEF

"For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed; for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." 2 Timothy 1:12.

If you forget everything else about God, remember this that "He is able" . . . and willing to forgive and forget, to do and undo, to save and to keep. God is love and life and liberty!

AND HE SCORES FOR A $ MILLION

LONDON (AP) — Cyril Grimes, a 62-year-old accountant, Wednesday picked up the biggest gambling prize in Britain's soccer pools history.

Grimes, who works for a charity organization that looks after war disabled people, won £12,683 ($1,332,985) in the treble chance pool run by Littlewoods, Britain's biggest pools firm.

Grimes said: "I was flabbergasted when I heard the news."

The top prizes in Britain's multi-million pound soccer pool industry are won by forecasting matches that will end in draws in which goals have been scored.

Grimes' win was pulled off against odds estimated at 111,000,000 to one.

Initiative Grant System Is Downright Ridiculous

Grants under the federal Local Initiative and Opportunities for Youth programs are ridiculous in many cases and the department of the government involved should take a second look at them.

Applications for grants are supposed to be thoroughly investigated but one wonders how thorough are the investigations carried out.

The Ottawa Citizen says that most of the initiative programs failed to meet their goals. It said that among the failures last year was the Opportunities for Youth program.

To name two initiative grants that would cause one to wonder is the grant to the Scene After Scene Free Theatre and the Church of the Final Judgment.

The theatre group is headed by high school dropout Rod Stewart in the Hamilton area. He received $40,000 to be used to produce 'agitational propaganda' in the form of two pro-Communist plays for high school students and other audiences.

He has hired 17 persons to put on the plays by Bertold Brecht, the German Communist playwright.

Mr. Stewart had the nerve to tell a newsman that the economics of the thing (grants) are really insane and ridiculous because it's bourgeois economics.

The church group, also known as The Process, received $25,900. The investigator in this case favored the grant because the group was to hire 12 people for its free food and clothing stores, toy repair shop, coffee house and drop-in centre.

The investigator said he was not worried about their religious beliefs which he felt were weird or suspicious. One of the 'masters' of Process said the sect considers Satan one of the aspects of God and they preach that in the Toronto area and hope to set up branch groups in Vancouver. It seems they pass out their literature at their stalls and centres.

Then there is the economist and adviser to citizens' groups who have been making pretty fair wages telling people in the Ottawa-Hull area how to be poor. Both have worked on the project with an L.I.P. grant.

The economist received $280 a week and the adviser $300 a week. One could call them 'professional grant scroungers.'

A survey by the Toronto Globe and Mail notes that some people working now on L.I.P. winter works projects and who worked on last year's Opportunity for Youth projects intend to do the same this summer.

Others on the border line are grants to bands and musicians. One in Kelowna and the other at the coast. They also involve instructors. The Kelowna group was given $49,000 and the grant on the coast was around the $10,000 mark.

There are some good cases. In Kelowna the Kiwanis Club are doing a good job with their grant of $17,006. They have put six men to work fixing up their Sutherland Hills park and it will be ready for public use this summer. There is much more work to be done there and they hope to get another grant under the summer program.

More recently six local school students applied for a $12,000 summer grant to operate an emergency road patrol seven days a week from Keremeos to Sicamous. It would help motorists in trouble or stranded as well as helping out during accidents. These youths should be commended for their plan and it is hoped they are given the grant.

It's the same old story, one or two groups spoil a worthwhile thing and the government is as much to blame for not looking into the applications more closely.

And we, the taxpayers, must pay.

Which Side To Believe

Between the optimists and the pessimists about mankind's future there is a great division. But one certainty is that in the lifetime of some of today's children, the world—or what is left of it, if the extreme pessimists are right—will know which side the people of the 20th century should have believed.

We are struck by one of the current contradictions.

The cheerful view is taken in a recent article by Norman Macrae in The Economist, of London, that in the next 80 years practically all of man's economic problems may be solved. This opinion is based on the growth of production. Even the average growth rate of just over 4½ per cent a year in gross national products, Mr. Macrae says, would enable the world GNP to expand to 32 times its present level in 80 years. Such expansion would give today's richest country, the United States, an average family income of around $250,000 a year early in the second half of the next century. And, "During this 80 years' dash, two-thirds of mankind should be raised from intolerable indigence to something better than the comfortable affluence which the other one-third of us already enjoy."

To the contrary is a warning from a group of scientists who have made a study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, using a computer and mathematical models, that disaster lies ahead in the next 100 years unless mankind curbs the present rates of growth. These scientists have concluded that the earth has limits beyond which man and his activities cannot grow, and the limits are being approached rapidly. If the current growth rates in population, food production, industrialization, pollution and depletion of resources continue, they report, the most probable result will be a sudden and uncontrollable decline in both population and industrial capacity.

Disaster or universal prosperity? No one today can know for sure. But even 30 or 40 years at the present rates of growth—including a doubling of the world population every 33 years—should tell the tale. In the course of man's long voyage through the years, it is a short time to wait.

CANADA'S STORY

First B.C. Governor Got 'A Cold Shoulder'

By BOB BOWMAN

One of the most disappointed immigrants who ever came to Canada (although it wasn't Canada then) must have been Richard Blanshard, the first governor of Vancouver Island. He arrived by ship from Britain on March 10, 1850, fully expecting a royal welcome, and a mansion on an estate of 1,000 acres of lawns and gardens!

Instead, he found that he would have to live on the ship for a month and then he would be given a room in the tiny fort, where he would have to live until autumn at least.

Neither did he get a royal welcome. There was a ceremony the next day in which the Chief Factor Douglas of the Hudson's Bay Company read an icy proclamation in keeping with a day of snow and rain. Douglas was the real power and should have been the first governor of the new colony.

Blanshard quickly learned that his hands were tied and returned to Britain the following year, when Douglas was given the appointment he deserved.

Blanshard also deserved better recognition. He did his best in the one year he served but his position was impossible.

It turned out for the best, because Douglas went on to save what is now British Columbia from becoming part of the United States.

The new colonies of Vancouver

Island and British Columbia, then the mainland, were created at a critical time of British North American development. The Hudson's Bay Company had been driven from the area that is now Oregon and Washington by the Oregon Boundary Treaty of 1846. The U.S. was expanding rapidly. In a war with Mexico in 1846-1848 it had taken Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Nevada, most of California and part of Colorado. Now the cry was "54:40 or fight" which meant the Pacific coast north to Alaska.

It could easily have happened if James Douglas had not been the man on the job.

OTHER MARCH 10 EVENTS

1626—Jesuits were granted seigneurie at Notre Dame des Anges.

1636—Montmagny became Governor of Canada.

1856—Government was defeated as result of Corrigan murder charge.

1865—Canada asked Britain to unite British North American colonies.

1873—Pacific boundary was established through Haro Strait.

1876—Opposition Leader J. A. Macdonald proposed higher tariff policy.

1890—Quebec passed general education law.

1910—Prince Rupert, B.C., was incorporated.

1915—Canadians fought at Neuve Chapelle.

not only Canada, but the world, have been wrestling with this problem for many, many years. Somehow it seems Mr. Turner wants his department officials to hunt through an old filing cabinet, or blow the dust off an ancient tomb and suddenly discover a secret that has eluded everybody through the generations.

Perhaps Mr. Turner and his officials should talk to Mr. Broadbent. For Mr. Broadbent advocates an opposite tack—one he contends will meet the situation. His approach is "damn the inflationary torpedoes, full speech ahead." The Ottawa MP suggests the government should put as many Canadians to work as possible, convince the people that some inflation is not a bad thing, and tell them that most of our inflation is inherited from the United States anyway, so there's really nothing we can do about it.

Mr. Broadbent argues that the people who benefit most from price stability and the government's preoccupation with dampening inflation are the coupon clippers. He admits that people on pensions and fixed incomes are hurt by inflation but he would get around this by making it mandatory to put escalator clauses in all pension plans. Unorganized workers are also hit but his answer to this is simply to suggest they join a union.

His approach, while not new, is unusual. But somehow I can't see Mr. Turner buying it. I think most Canadians want their government to continue to keep a very close watch on the cost of living index.

I suspect we will see a continuation of the old game of using monetary and fiscal policies and instruments to maintain an uneasy balance between high unemployment and high living costs. Obviously, it hasn't been a very successful game so far, but it appears to be the only game in town.

Successful Workshop Held For Area Music Teachers

By DOROTHY CLYNE

A successful workshop, directed by Rodney Webster, was held for the Registered Music Teachers of the Central Okanagan in Kelowna March 6 and 7. Mr. Webster is head of the ear-training and theory department of the Victoria Conservatory of Music. Teachers attending were from Vernon, Kelowna, Rutland, Summerland and Penticton.

Creativity was Mr. Webster's theme. A creative talent of some kind exists in more people than are given credit for—especially in young children, he said.

He mentioned that the six and seven-year-olds can create and write melodies spontaneously while the 16-year-olds are more apprehensive and shy to express themselves.

GOLDEN TIME

He went on to say that the golden time in life to start ear-training is during the tender years and the moment children hear sound, ear-training commences. The ear is one of the earliest organs developed in the body and has a developing situation up to 12 years of age but after that it has a declining situation, thus one can teach basic ear-training to early age groups and they respond quicker than older students and adults.

Some people are gifted with perfect pitch and a rare few are monotonous but in between these there is a shifting level which is a native ability that can be improved with consistent practice.

Mr. Webster also discussed rhythm, sight reading and melody patterns and his remarks were broad and flexible enough to meet the needs of some of the problems the teachers have.

LISTEN

Occasionally we reminisce about our early days at the piano when the accomplishment of a well-played solo was enough—but today it is increasingly important to listen and recognize intervals as we play, he said.

He was enthusiastic about music being a universal language, that whatever part of the world we visit it is a means to communicate and give something of ourselves in the performance of our art, and, as an aside, how greatly the world would benefit if we had a similar universal spoken language.

In concluding, he said, music is sound produced from an instrument, also a final emphasis that ear-training should be taught to the youngest pupil and thus lead up to the advanced requirements of the upper grades as there is no magic formula for ear-training.

MARRIAGE

Mrs. J. Follmer announces the marriage of her daughter, Margaret Wort, to Sieg Scherle. The wedding took place Feb. 2 in Port-Au-Prince, Haiti. Following an extended vacation, the couple will reside in Kelowna.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

A shower was held for Margaret Guthrie, bride elect of April 8, at the home of Mrs. Dale Wentworth. Mrs. Walter Wentworth was also a host.

Lovely corsages were given to the bride-to-be and her mother Mrs. Edward Guthrie. The guest of honor was seated in a decorated chair with pink and white water spray containers and simulated rain made from white and deep pink streamers flowing from the ceiling.

The bridesmaid-to-be, Karen Person assisted Margaret with the opening of the many beautiful gifts received from the 14 guests.

A lovely hat was created by Mrs. Richard Person with ribbons and bows from the gifts. A delightful lunch was served on a table highlighted by a three-tiered, heart-shaped cake decorated in tiny hearts and rose-buds.

Mrs. Dale Wentworth made the cake especially for the shower.

Kinette Meeting Rates 100 Per Cent

The Kinette Club of Kelowna's March meeting was not only a "come as you are" evening but also invitations were extended to all Kin wives. The registrar's report for the evening was a 100 per cent attendance rating for the club.

Highlights of the evening were a visit from the Salmon Arm Kinette Club and a "silent auction". Preparations for "Ladies Night Out" to be held March 17, under the convener'ship of Betty Day were finalized. The Kinettes "Babysitting Course" with two sessions remaining, under the convener'ship of Lorraine Bulatovich, has been very well attended by many prospective certificate awardees.

'Cree Is A Beautiful Language' Says Woman Who Writes About It

EDMONTON (CP) — "Ni-to-te-mak ne-hi-ya-we-tan," said Anne Anderson.

That means "My friends, let's speak Cree."

It's a beautiful language, said the 66-year-old grandmother, who has been teaching it in classes in Edmonton since 1968. Now she has just completed her 11th language-teaching book, this time a dictionary of the Plains Cree Y dialect.

There are four dialects of Cree, including the L dialect used in Ontario, the R and the TH. However, the Plains Cree is the commonest now.

"An old lady once told me that Cree sounds like a little stream flowing over rocks, or the winds whispering in the pines. The voice rises and falls. It's very melodious."

The daughter of a Cree woman and a Scots-Canadian, Mrs. Anderson has spoken Cree since she was a child.

But she stresses that those who learn it should learn to read and write it as well as speak it.

"I would like my blood-brothers and sisters to be able to write their own stories and books on it."

A self-taught linguist, she spends many hours "studying it in my mind, working out the roots and the backgrounds of the words."

She also has worked on reserves in various parts of Alberta.

Her mother was a full-blooded Indian, "but not as far as her father refused to sign the treaties with the white men." Her first husband was a Calahoo-band Indian. They lived for nine years in Oregon. She later married again and moved to Edmonton in 1958 when her husband became ill.

Some of her books, which she publishes herself through the sheltered workshops for the mentally retarded, are directed toward children. There are several coloring books with only Cree words to describe the pictures.

Some of her books are being used on Plains Cree reserves and in schools in Montana, Minnesota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan as well as in Alberta. She also has had orders from the Indian affairs department and some of the universities in Eastern Canada.

When she first began her classes, she looked for Cree-language books in stores and was disappointed when she couldn't find any.

She eventually wrote to reserves, schools and churches and finally found a few written by missionaries in the late 1800s.

Report On Jobs Given To BPWC

A report on permanent part-time employment in this locality was presented by Mrs. Mabel Urquhart at the regular supper meeting at the Baron of the Kelowna Business and Professional Women's Club. The survey is part of a province-wide report being compiled by the provincial BPWC.

Mrs. Urquhart interviewed 17 personnel managers representing a variety of retail outlets, plants and nursing homes; some small and others employers of large staffs. Since the interviews were of a confidential nature, she did not disclose individual details.

Only two businesses have more permanent part-time help than full time. Both managers she said, stated that this was the easiest and most economical way of catering to the wants of their customers, to maintain night shopping hours and at the same time, observe labor legislation.

All but two of the 17 personnel managers questioned, preferred part-time help to students, according to Mrs. Urquhart, adding that this information started her. As a result she did a separate survey of students on her own and presented their views in an addendum.

All managers said that part-time employees had first opportunity to fill full-time vacancies if they are qualified.

SOCIAL PLANNING COUNCIL
A motion approved membership in the Central Okanagan Social Planning Council and also agreed that Mrs. Alice Runnalls, president of the club would represent the club for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Runnalls also reported that a reply had been received from Hon. Otto Lang, Minister

ANN LANDERS

Widows Take Note Keep Independent

Dear Ann Landers: I was widowed at age 53. That was 12 years ago. My husband left me very comfortable. I had a big house, no bills and his insurance program was a good one. I could have managed very nicely if I had had the good sense to say no to my children.

My two sons were left substantial sums by their father. They were also left a fine business which they ran into the ground within three years. Shortly after they lost the business they talked me into selling my house and loaning them the money so they could go into a new business about which they knew absolutely nothing.

My older boy's wife begged me to come and live with them. She made it sound wonderfully appealing, said my presence would add a beautiful dimension to the lives of their children. I was flattered and quite puffed up to be honest with you. Within two months I realized I had made a mistake but I had no money and no place to go. What little money I had was tied up in the new business. In other words, I now am dependent on my children.

My advice to all widows is this: Don't change your way of living if you don't have to. Hang on to your money. Hang on to your house. Let your married children make their own way. My husband would turn over in his grave if he could see what has happened to me I am—Sad and Sorry.

Dear Sad: Thank you for the autobiographical essay. You've offered a post-graduate course for widows in one easy lesson.

Dear Ann Landers: You'll probably think I'm crazy when you read this letter and you could be right but something

Referees Have A Tough Job But Bruce Walker Does It

When asked the simple question, "why do you put on a striped shirt to go out and take abuse from a number of fans and players," referee Bruce Walker had a simple answer.

There seemed to be several reasons for his donning the striped garb of the game official for Kelowna Buckaroos home games and some games between other teams on the road.

"I guess I love the game, and since I'm too old to play I referee," Walker said. "Also I actually prefer refereeing to playing."

Unlike many referees who go from a hockey career to that of game official, Bruce's officiating finished his hockey playing at an early age.

He only played two years of minor hockey in the Kelowna and District Minor Hockey Association, then got his start officiating at the age of 12 for other minor hockey games.

Ever since then, his hockey career was in making players of both teams toe the mark.

He continued as official for minor hockey league games until refereeing his first junior hockey game at the age of 18. Three years later, he is still taking his share of junior games along with juvenile contests.

One of the main requirements for a referee, as well as a linesman, is a lack of what is commonly termed rabbit ears. That is when critical remarks by fans and players start to bother game officials.

"If that happens, you might as well pack it in," Bruce said. A lot of criticism can come the referee's way during the normal course of a game, especially if the penalties are going against the local team.

Most players also complain when they are handed penalties, and it is a matter of discretion on the referee's part on how much bickering he can allow.

"If a guy swears at me when the two of us are alone, it is a personal complaint," Bruce said. "Then there is no misconduct penalty. But if he says the same thing, and it is serious enough, in front of other players or in a position where the fans can hear, you have to give him a misconduct."

"If you don't, then it looks as if you are afraid of the players," he said.

"Some players rarely complain, like Bruce Gerlach (of the Buckaroos)," Walker said. "I can remember only a couple of times he complained, and one of those was when he said he was speared and I didn't see it."

Gerlach is the leading Buckaroo penalty-getter with nearly 160 minutes in the penalty box.

Bruce terms tripping a cheap penalty, but not as cheap as one for delaying the game and using an illegal stick. "I give a warning to a team if they delay the game by shooting the puck into the crowd, and then I have to give a penalty."

Stupid, was the way he described the penalty for having a stick with more than a certain amount of warp on the blade. He can only call the penalty when the other team requests a check of an opposing stick. He tests it by trying to push a dime under it while the blade is flat against a surface.

"I can't see why the players try to get away with it, and I disagree with the two minute penalty being handed out," Walker said. "I think that a player with an illegal stick should be assessed a $5 fine instead of having his team penalized."

A recent case of this was when Buckaroos were at home against Penticton. Broncos' captain Phil Blake asked Walker to check a Penticton stick, and the check proved it to be illegal.

Broncos retaliated by having Blake's stick checked, and it was also illegal. "I think that Don Slater (Broncos coach) thought that I just grabbed one of his players' sticks."

When Walker has a bad game, he says he knows it. "I can tell whether I have a bad game or not, and this year I have had that feeling a lot less than last year."

Team coaches can sometimes upset a referee and throw him off his game, although this doesn't happen often. "Only two coaches have gotten to me, Joe Tennant of the Kamloops Rockets and Slater."

"Joe is actually all right, but I think my worst games this year have come against Penticton."

One thing some referees are accused of is being partial to the home team, and another is bending over backwards so that they can't be accused of being partial to the home team.

"I just see them as being red team against white, or whatever it may be," Bruce said. "That's the only way you can do it."

Although he doesn't get a chance to watch the game, understandably, he can tell if it is a good one. "If I skate from one end of the rink to the other and back again often it's a good game, with a lot of scoring chances by both teams," he said.

The referee can control the game to some degree. "I try to judge in the first couple of minutes how the players want to play. If they are charging each other I assess a penalty and see what happens," Bruce said.

"If they continue to take runs at each other, then I hand out more penalties. If they don't, I let up," he said.

Referees take a lot of abuse, much of it unwarranted. But it is a job that has to be done.

MAYOR ROTH'S OFFICIAL DELIVERY

Mayor Hilbert Roth makes the official delivery to open the 12th Annual Senior Men's Curling Bouspiel Thursday at the Kelowna Curling Club. There are 44 rinks entered from all Okanagan centres in the four-day 'spiel. Senior curling officials watch Mayor Roth's delivery in the background. Mayor Roth had a minor mishap after releasing the rock, with both feet scotching from under him. He reported no injuries sustained in the fall.

Manitoba Rink On Brink Of Winning Brier Crown

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Orest Meleschuk of Winnipeg is a man with a mission today. He wants to win the Canadian curling championship.

"Just two more games, that's all we have to win," said the 32-year-old civil technician after his Manitoba rink moved into first place Thursday.

"But they're both big games and they're both tough games. We've got British Columbia in the morning and Alberta in the afternoon."

"We're home free after that," Meleschuk had just come off the ice after skipping his rink to its third win of the day, a 7-6 triumph over Doug Wyatt of Saskatoon.

That victory put Manitoba into first place in the 11-rink, round-robin competition, and Meleschuk won it the hard way — without last rock.

"GARBAGE" HELPED
"We managed to get enough garbage out in front in the 12th to make a screen," he said.

"Wyatt tried a cold draw to win with his last rock, but he wrecked on a guard."

"The shot was there for him, but he didn't have much of an opening. The ice changed as the afternoon."

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
REMEMBER WHEN . . . Down but not out, Hector Gervais and his Edmonton rink scored six points to make up a five-point deficit in the last four ends 11 years ago today—in 1961—and beat Ontario 10-9 for the Canadian curling championship. An Alberta loss would have meant a playoff with Saskatchewan, but Gervais ended with nine wins to Saskatchewan's eight.

evening progressed and it was hard to find draw weight."

Meleschuk tied the game in the 11th with one Wyatt had last rock coming home. But the ice gave him trouble.

The Manitoba victory cleared the picture a bit in the competition.

Wyatt, Bill Kent of Montreal, and Mel Waterson of Fairview, Alta., follow Meleschuk, each with 6-2 marks while Eldon Coombe of Ottawa is 5-4.

Dave Sullivan of Fredericton and Bernie Sparkes of Vancouver have 4-4 records and Jack MacFarlane of Sault Ste. Marie is 3-5.

Fred Durant of St. John's and Kip Ready of Charlottetown are 2-6 and Barry Shearer of Halifax is winless in nine games.

Watchorn got a rude awakening Thursday night in the ninth round as his Alberta rink went down 7-6 to Coombe's Ontario foursome.

"I figured I'd throw these guys some grapefruit first. If they hit one, then a baseball!"

Kent, meanwhile, was watching the leaders as he skipped his Quebec rink to an 8-4 win over Sullivan.

"We have to wait for someone else to do something," said Kent. "There are all kinds of possibilities."

Bucks Want Longer Duration In Fourth Place Position

Earlier in the season, Kelowna Buckaroos were in fifth place for about two days. Then they slipped back into last where they have been until their recent surge that has moved them into a playoff position for a berth in the B.C. Junior Hockey League.

Bucks will be trying to make their hold on fourth place last a little longer this time around as they meet Richmond Centennials tonight at 8:30 p.m. at the Memorial Arena.

A win for Bucks will put them into fourth place, either behind Kamloops Rockets, Chilliwack Bruins or in a three-way tie for the final playoff position. Bruins and Rockets are tied for third, one point ahead of fifth place Bucks, who had a 24-hour tie for fourth place with Rockets earlier in the week.

The winning team between Rockets and Bruins when the two teams meet tonight in Kamloops will take over third place. If they tie, it will set up a possible three-way deadlock for third as long as Bucks get past sixth-place Centennials.

Centennials have a tough weekend road trip facing them, as they follow their Friday night game with a Saturday night match against league-leading Vernon. Esos. Bruins are in Kelowna Sunday for a 7:30 p.m. battle with the Bucks.

Team Picked For Rolloffs

Seven men and seven ladies were selected to the Kelowna squad that will compete in the Inter-City Bowling Rolloffs in Vernon starting today and finishing Sunday.

Don Chmilar rolled the top single score of the competition to decide the teams, bowling a 410 game. Other members of the men's team are Bert Griffin, Syd Hackett, Stretch Ikari, Doug Harding, Cec Favell and Vince Bertucci.

On the ladies' team are Carol Koga, Gerda Perron, Mich Tahara, Marg Schmidt, Doris Whittle, Terry Hine and Shirley Fowler.

Mario Koga will be the team's coach with Pidge Tahara as manager. The two will select three men and four women to the mixed team.

Twenty-four interior centres will compete in the annual three-day rolloffs.

Few Changes In Ball Loop

It seems the only changes in the Kelowna and District Senior Men's Softball League are the name of one team and the formation of a juvenile ball loop.

Four teams will again be entered in the league, it was decided at a league meeting Wednesday night. Kelowna Labatts won't be entered, with Treadgold's Club 13 taking over the open franchise.

The three elected officers of the loop were returned for another year. President Vince Lutz will return to his post, with vice-president Al Buchanan back and the same with secretary-treasurer Russ Cordeado.

The rest of the league executive is made up of coaches and managers of the teams, with one vote per team.

Buchanan will be handling the juvenile softball league in addition to the Kelowna Realtees, a junior ladies' softball team.

Another matter brought up in the meeting was that Jack Brow needs assistance in minor softball for boys 12 and under. There also will be an umpire meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. Willis-Harding Insurance.

SLALOM RACE
The Okanagan Auto Sport Club will hold a slalom competition Sunday at the Shops Capri parking lot. Registration is 9:30 a.m. with a driver's meeting at 10 a.m. and first car off the starting line at 10:30.

If Strike Vote Hits Pro Baseball Torre Will Be A High-Paid Picket

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If major league baseball players go on strike, Joe Torre will be one of the country's highest-priced pickets.

Torre agreed to a two-year contract with St. Louis Cardinals Thursday, ending his spring holdout a few hours after Chicago White Sox had voted 31 to 0 to authorize a possible player strike.

The unanimous White Sox vote came following a 90-minute meeting with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association.

The bone of contention is an acceptable increase for the current pension agreement which expires March 31. Miller, who is touring the spring training camps of all teams, asked for the vote following a Wednesday meeting with John Gaherin, chief negotiator for the owners.

According to Miller, the owners scaled down a $372,000 increase offered in January to $250,000 at Wednesday's meeting.

The reduction, according to Miller, meant the owners were "deliberately trying to provoke a players' strike. That's the only way you can explain that kind of negotiating behavior."

SUGGESTS COURSES
Miller said the strike could take several forms. The players might refuse to work after March 31 or refuse to play in any Saturday afternoon or Monday night game scheduled for national television.

Major league baseball's lucrative contract with the National Broadcasting Company provides about a quarter of a million dollars for each nationally televised game. Informed of the threatened strike, Carl Lindemann, NBC's vice president for sports, said simply, "No game, no pay."

Annual Supper
Held On Monday

The annual pot luck supper sponsored by the Kelowna Power Squadron will be held at the Kelowna Yacht Club Monday at 6 p.m.

Squadron Commander Derek Parker expects a good turnout of members, including students who have been enrolled in the basic boating course this winter. There will be four boating films shown after the dinner. The films will be "Bay of Fundy," "Do's and Don'ts of Power Boating," "Bailing," and "Origins of Weather."

STEALS CRUISER
MOUNT FOREST, Ont. (CP) — Provincial Police Constable R. A. Maginnis, who went to aid a man who complained of feeling ill, was pushed into a snowy ditch while the man took off in the police cruiser. A second cruiser recovered the car within an hour. Bernard Millinger was charged with assaulting police, impaired driving and failure to take a breath analysis test.

If you've decided against electric heat because you were told its operating costs are too high, then chances are you haven't looked into Intertherm's electro-hydronic...
HOT WATER HEAT WITHOUT PLUMBING

The accusation of high operating costs is a burden electric heat has had to bear. But with Intertherm's water electric heat, we have managed a solution to this problem. Our heating system follows the principle of ordinary electric resistance heat, then it does the principle of economical hot water heat.

I can only tell you with the utmost sincerity, that before you do anything else, before you go through another discomforting winter, look into Intertherm. Plug in models also available for heating individual rooms. Write for literature. We won't have a salesman at your door the next day. Just examine what we have to say, and make your own decision. But do write to us today.

With almost a half million Intertherm installations under our belt it is simply amazing to us the number of people who write us telling how pleasantly surprised they were of the low operating costs.

And not only is Intertherm economical, it's also the most comfortable kind of heat you can provide for your own family. That's because it eliminates cold floors and cold drafts. And there is none of that "on-again, off-again" type of heat. Just smooth, even, comfortable heat.

It's also a healthful heat, now being recommended by allergists all over the nation and in Canada, for patients susceptible to combustion gases and "fired dust," caused by the hot heating surfaces of ordinary heating plants.

And finally, it is so absolutely safe, a child can stuff the flimsiest tissue and gauge into the base-board without the slightest danger.

'I NEED THE MONEY'

Veteran Glamor Gals Return

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As if to show the younger actresses how it's done, the veterans among screen glamor gals have been flocking back to the sound stages.

"I need to work," explained Academy Award winner Olivia de Havilland, seen recently as The Screaming Woman, an ABC-TV movie. "I need creative activity, communication with people, large groups of them."

Susan Hayward, another Oscar holder, is back in Hollywood from 15 years' residence in Florida and making her television movie debut in CBS' Heat of Anger.

Paulette Goddard said when asked if NBC's forthcoming The Snoop Sisters marks a resumption of her movie career after 18 years:

"Absolutely not. This is a one shot thing that Helen Hayes and producer Leonard Stern talked me into."

The two-hour movie is the pilot for a projected series starring Miss Hayes and Mildred Natwick, who with Sylvia Sidney and Myrna Loy recently appeared on ABC as matrons who met a murderer while seeking adventure through a computer dating system.

SOLVES CRIMES

Two other veterans besides Miss Hayward appeared recently: Eve Arden as a retired schoolteacher whose hobby is solving crimes, on ABC's A Very Missing Person Saturday; and Jane Wyman as compassionate pediatrician A man and Fallon on NBC's The Bold Ones Sunday.

Bette Davis plays a retired judge who runs an investigative agency in The Judge and Jake Wyler, a forthcoming NBC World Premiere.

Other famous actresses seen recently in prime-time TV drama:

Joan Bennett as Gidget's mother Jan. 4 and as Peter Haskell's aunt last Tuesday on ABC, June Allyson as Eddie Albert's wife in her first film in 12 years, June Havoc here from her New Orleans repertory theatre for McMillan and Wife, Dorothy McGuire as David McCallum's mother in CBS' She Waits, actress-director Ida Lupino on Medical Centre last Wednesday, singer Peggy Lee, doing her first dramatic acting in 16 years on an Owen Marshall, and Ann Sothern, in costume as a queen for last Monday's Fol-De-Rol on ABC.

Chief Dan's Show Coming To City

James C. Browne, manager of CKOV radio, announced today that CKOV will sponsor the Chief Dan George show in Kelowna's Community Theatre next month, with CKOV's share of the proceeds to the newly-formed CKOV Okanagan Children's Fund.

Chief Dan, who first became known for his roles in CBC-TV Cariboo Country dramas, has since become famous for supporting roles in hit Hollywood films, including a just-released picture in which he co-stars with Bob Hope.

The Chief Dan George stage show highlights the chief in a number of his monologues, and in a new role as a singer of country and western ballads. Appearing with him are two proponents of native dancing, as well as the hit country and western band, Fireweed.

In announcing CKOV's sponsorship of the Chief Dan George show for its two Kelowna performances April 6, Mr. Browne indicated that this will be the first of many endeavors of his radio station to benefit the Okanagan Children's Fund. Established by CKOV, the fund will have as directors the presidents of a number of service clubs from Winfield to Peachland, who will decide the projects on which club funds will be spent.

Terms of the fund's constitution require that CKOV's share of the proceeds go to benefit children of the CKOV coverage area.

Slim Al Hirt Surgeons Aim

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Al Hirt, the 320-pound jazz trumpeter from New Orleans, has undergone surgery for obesity in the Medical College of Virginia Hospital.

"He is doing well," the hospital reported in a statement Wednesday, one week after the operation.

Hirt, 49, underwent surgery to achieve a bypass of the small intestine, which absorbs an estimated 80 per cent of what is eaten. With the bypass, his body will absorb less food and he should be able to lose as much weight as 100 pounds, doctors said.

Play 'Propaganda' For FLQ But It Hits At Tokenism

TORONTO (CP) — George Ryga's play, Captives of the Faceless Drummer, received its first full staging Monday night and became, in part, a propaganda piece for the Front de Liberation du Quebec.

At the conclusion of the play, which focuses on captive and captor in a situation reminiscent of the Quebec political kidnappings of 1970 but set in some future, undefined, Canadian revolutionary period, members of the cast distributed to the audience copies of the FLQ manifesto.

A spokesman for the St. Lawrence Centre, where the play opened a two-week run before a near-capacity audience, said the handing out of the manifesto was not the conception of the playwright but part of the staging of the play by director Martin Kinch.

Mr. Ryga, a native of Alberta who lives and writes in British Columbia, had been invited to attend the opening, the spokesman said, but had to decline when his wife entered hospital.

The playwright, an outspoken critic of Canadian professional theatres for what he calls their "tokenism" in staging only one or two Canadian plays a season, has been trying for more than a year to get the play produced in a professional theatre.

It was rejected last season by the Vancouver Playhouse, but later received a studio performance at the Vancouver Art Gallery.

Urjo Kareda, drama critic for the Toronto Star, wrote prior to Monday night's opening that the Toronto production represented "not so much a victory for Canadian drama as the continuing struggle against tokenism and fear." The Ryga play is one of two Canadian works included in the centre's 1971-72 season.

Mr. Kareda said that "in its printed form . . . the play shows an original striking power in its presentation of an FLQ-style political confrontation" and "certainly deserves a bigger audience" than it received in Vancouver.

Herbert Whittaker wrote in The Globe and Mail following the production that the play did not offer a "sensationalist look at the FLQ outbreaks which inspired it."

WINNIPEG (CP) — United States hospitals are hiring hotel and restaurant managers as administrators of hospital food services partly because "women are unwilling to accept the responsibility of an administrative position," says Alva Gross, Winnipeg General Hospital's director of dietetics. She said dietitians "were unwilling" to take further training to equip them for administrative positions.

AGRICULTURE TODAY

A life-giving drip, a new bug for B.C., these and other highlights from the 1972 Fruit Grower Chautauqua Series are shown with the guidance of Horticulturist, John Price, Department of Agriculture, Oliver, on CHBC-TV's program Agriculture Today, on Tuesday.

No Mystery About Art...

SASKATOON (CP) — Art education in schools often only creates the myth that art is a mystery open only to a select few, says Stan Day, assistant professor of art and education at the University of Saskatchewan.

"Teaching creativity is not as easy as it looks because you have to understand the creative process," he said. "Most teachers don't and therefore fail to meet the challenge of developing the creative potential of their students."

Speaking at an opening of his paintings at the Mendel Gallery, he said that a good artist must understand the nature of his subject, otherwise he is only a good technician.

A lasting understanding of art was achieved only through serious exploration. He distinguished between the serious artist and the amateur Sunday painter or hobbyist.

"Many students don't want to explore art. They only want to paint pretty pictures."

A serious artist will make sacrifices and struggle to come to an understanding of his art, but the amateur copies nature in order to please others, he said.

Tiny Tim Still True

NEW YORK (AP) — Tiny Tim said today he is contesting Miss Vicky's suit for separation or divorce because "I don't ever want to be separated from her."

Moreover, he added in telephone interviews, should her suit be successful "if she marries again, I'll consider she's living in sin."

The long-tressed singer said earlier in the week that the bride he married before 20 million viewers on NBC's Tonight show had left him after he went through the fortune he made with falsetto versions of such old favorites as Tiptoe Through the Tulips.

He said Miss Vicky told him in a phone call from Haddonfield, N.J., where she is living with her parents:

"I don't love you anymore. What I told you before the marriage—I've changed my mind. I don't believe in what you do. I want to live, I want to live in this world and not in the world to come."

Tiny Tim, whose real name is Herbert B. Khaury, said that before the marriage "I told her I didn't believe in desire . . . I didn't want to make marriage for s-e-x and for the lust of the flesh."

North Country To Be Screened

North Country, an outdoor, color, action-adventure motion picture about the exploits of modern-day Alaskan trapper, Jeff Graham, will be screened.

This film, shot entirely on location, follows woodsman Graham through one year of his life as he camps in the frozen wilds of the far north country trapping beaver, fox and muskrat. In this true-to-life feature, Graham pans gold and serves as a backcountry guide over some of Alaska's roughest terrain to earn just enough to pay for what little he needs from civilization. Otherwise, he lives off the land, hunting only out of necessity.

ARTISTS HONORED

Arthur Hill of TV's Owen Marshall series, actress Frances Hyland and Lister Sinclair, head of the CBC's arts and science department, are to receive honorary doctor of law degrees in May from the University of British Columbia.

None of the characters in North Country are actors. These are all real Alaskans portraying their real lives.

A New Scarlet Goes On Stage

LONDON (AP) — Director Joe Layton named British actress June Ritchie on Monday to play Scarlett O'Hara in a lavish London musical version of Gone with the Wind. It will open at the Drury Lane Theatre May 3. Gone with the Wind is based on Margaret Mitchell's best-selling novel about the American Civil War. The film version starring Vivien Leigh as Scarlett and Clark Gable as Rhett Butler became one of the greatest money-earners of all time. Layton has not yet chosen an actor to play Rhett Butler.

SEEKS DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sally Kellerman, the actress who played Army nurse Hot Lips Houlihan in the movie M-A-S-H, is seeking a divorce from writer Richard Edelman. Her petition filed Monday cited irreconcilable differences. It said the couple married Dec. 19, 1970, separated last Dec. 17, and had no children. The marriage was the first for Miss Kellerman, 34, and the second for Edelman, 44.

IN TORONTO

Mickey Rooney is star and writer of a comedy movie, introducing Suzie, planned for production in Toronto in late April.

Not Military But Charity

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A young musician has been ordered to perform for military and charitable groups for the next two years in lieu of going into the United States Army. Stephen Smith was placed on three years probation Friday by Judge Clarence Allgood after pleading guilty to charges of failing to report for induction. He was placed on probation on condition that his musical group — Smith, Perkins and Smith — appear before charitable institutions and at military bases.

Another 'Hollywood Child' Takes Off On Own Course

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If the name on the television credits seemed familiar, that was only natural, Tracy Keenan Wynn's family goes back three generations in films.

His great-grandfather, Frank Keenan, was a stage star who appeared in films as early as 1906.

Wynn's grandfather was the great Ed Wynn, who starred as The Perfect Fool on Broadway, radio and a few movies, then became an acclaimed character actor in films.

Wynn's father is Keenan Wynn, a top character actor in Hollywood for 30 years.

"I've done a little acting, but I decided to concentrate on writing," says 26-year-old Tracy Wynn. "I learned early that I could never be a better actor than my father."

"So, like John Huston, who made the same discovery, about his father (Walter), I chose to aim for the position of writer-director."

WON EMMY

Young Wynn captured an Emmy last year for writing Tribes. He again will be in the running for The Glass House, a prison drama that appeared in CBS last month and will be repeated April 7.

Tracy Wynn epitomizes a new era of achievement by children of the film famous. That era seemed to be confirmed recently when Liza Minnelli, star of the movie Cabaret, in the same week appeared on the covers of Newsweek and Time, the latter billed her as The New Miss Show Biz. The same type of accolade was once accorded her mother, Judy Garland. The new pattern of success for movie stars' children differs from that of a decade or two ago.

"It was tough on movie children a generation ago," explains one long-time observer of the local scene. . . .

"A child was expected to follow the same pattern as his famous father and mother. Many of the kids didn't have the same talent; when they failed, it shattered them."

The current generation of stars' children appears to have a different attitude. They are seeking their own way in their lives, regardless of the parents' public images.

Says Liza Minnelli: "Some people will always see Mama in me, and others will accept or reject me as an individual and that's that, so be it."

Some of the new generation have sought life-styles that disturb their elders. Jane and Peter Fonda have gone their own, outspoken ways. Yet both have excelled in the profession of their father, Henry Fonda.

Cowboy Flett Rides Herd With Hat Trick Over LA

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
If Los Angeles Kings' fans had any questions about why Bill Flett is called Cowboy, they were wiped aside Thursday night when the one-time hero rode herd on the Kings for three goals and launched Philadelphia Flyers to a 5-3 National Hockey League victory.

It was the first game back in Los Angeles for Flett, one of the original Kings from the 1967 expansion team who was traded to the Flyers in an eight-player deal Jan. 29.

The victory moved Philadelphia into a third-place tie with St. Louis Blues in the West Division. The Blues dropped a 5-1 score to Montreal Canadiens in the other game Thursday night.

Tonight's only act on his Vancouver Canucks at home to Buffalo Sabres. Both clubs are in the East Division cellar with the Sabres in sixth place by three points.

Taken from Toronto Maple Leafs in the June, 1967, expansion draft, Flett was one of the Kings' most popular players and one of their consistent scorers for two seasons.

The rugged native of Vermilion, Alta., scored 26 and 24 goals respectively in his first two years but tailed off to 14 and 13 goals during the next two campaigns while missing part of the 1970-71 schedule with pulled knee ligaments.

Flett had been struggling since the injury and Kings had him riding the bench which prompted the silent but moody winger to observe earlier this year: "It hurts not to play, because I can play better than some who have been playing. I've tried not to complain. I do my best."

Flett, along with close friend Eddie Joyal, Ross Lonsberry and rookie Jean Potvin moved to Flyers in the Jan. 29 trade that sent Serge Bernier, Jim Johnson, Bill Lesuk and a minor league player to the Kings.

11th LOSS IN 13
It marked the 11th loss in 13 games for the Fred Glover-coached Kings, deep in the West Division basement 10 points behind sixth-place Pittsburgh Penguins.

Pete Mahovich and rookie Guy Lafleur broke up a close game at St. Louis, scoring 33 seconds apart early in the third

Cents Fail To Clinch Top Spot While Jets Fail To Get Any

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Regina Pats opened up a first place lead, Winnipeg Jets lost out in their bid to make the playoffs and Calgary Centennials failed to clinch first place in Western Canada Hockey League action Thursday night.

In New Westminster, the Pats scored four unanswered goals to down New Westminster Bruins 4-2 and take a three-point lead atop the WCHL's eastern division ahead of idle Saskatoon Blades.

The Centennials, who need just one more win to clinch first place in the western division, lost a 2-1 overtime decision to the hometown Edmonton Oilers.

The Jets, trying vainly to grab fourth spot in the east, were thumped 10-6 by Brandon Wheat Kings in Brandon.

In Edmonton, Doug Kozak was the hero for the Oilers, scoring at 2:59 of a sudden-death overtime period to set back Calgary's title hopes for the time being.

Doug Horbush gave the Centennials a 1-0 lead in the second period but Marcel Comeau tied it up for the Oilers before the end of the period.

The Wheat Kings exploded for six goals in the second period to eliminate the Jets, who now trail fourth-place Flin Flon Bombers by 12 points with five games to play.

Exacting Figures Pay Off Canadian Finishes In Fifth

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
CALGARY (CP) — Proficiency in the solid art of tracing figures has decided one title and has set the stage for victory in a second event at the world-figure skating championships.

Ondrej Nepela of Czechoslovakia successfully defended his world crown Thursday night, putting together a solid free-skating performance with a previous top exhibition of figures.

And two Russians—Sergei Chetverukhin and Vladimir Kovalev—who were 2-3 after the figures, took the silver and bronze medals.

A similar situation is shaping up in the women's singles, which will be decided tonight.

Triske Schuba of Austria has an insurmountable lead after the compulsory figures, with Karen Magnussen of Vancouver and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., fighting it out for second place.

FREE SKATING IS KEY
Below third place Thursday night, brilliant free-skating juggled the men's standings.

John Petkevich of the United States, fifth after the compulsory figures, moved up to fourth.

Toller Cranston of Toronto, ninth after the compulsories, vaulted all the way to fifth—a performance which will allow Canada a total of three male skaters for the 1973 world championships in Bratislava, Czechoslovakia.

"It is a miracle—I was 11th last year," Cranston said after his performance.

Nepela was more reticent.

"I did, this year, quite well. I think I did my best, what I could do."

He said he hasn't made any plans for the future but "next year we have the world's in my home town. I don't really know—but I'm getting tired."

Chetverukhin agreed. "Now I'm happy and I am tired."

"It was the very best of my skating career."

Kovalev was the hit of the sell-out crowd in the Calgary corral.

Early in his program he swept across the ice to a roaring stop inches away from Judge No. 3—the United States woman judge—and stood smiling at her as the crowd applauded.

"The program has been set that way," he said later. "The rink is relatively narrow so I came very close. Normally, I don't come that close."

Did he especially pick out the U.S. judge?

"Oh yes, sure."

SCHUBA TAKES LEAD

In the women's compulsory event Thursday, Miss Schuba skated to the lead she said she would need for a successful defence of her world title.

She said prior to the compulsories that she would need a lead of "120 to 130" to feel safe. She came through with a margin of 130.8.

Miss Lynn came back on her final two figures to take third place over Hungary's Zsuzsa Almasy by a narrow margin. A surprising Jean Scott of Great Britain was fifth.

Miss Magnussen said she expected "a little pressure" performing before a Canadian audience in the final.

NDP Association Elects President

At a meeting of about 60 NDP members at the Institute Hall in Kelowna March 8, the South Okanagan NDP Association elected new officers and executive members for the coming year.

Lorne Pearce was elected president; Alex Jurassovich, first vice president; Erick Metke, secretary and Mrs. Beverly Boyd, treasurer.

Mrs. Eva Pfeifer was elected provincial council member. Executive members elected were Mrs. Monica Davis, Bill Boyd, Mrs. Hazel Miller, Jim Shrabuk Jr., Mrs. Pearl Slater, Frank Snowsall, Alf Lacking, Charlie Pfeifer, Mr. and Mrs. N. Grant, Mrs. Ella Metke, Mrs. K. Swetz, Phil Miller, Albert McBain, John Vandenbergh, and Kathy Busch.

REPORT GIVEN

Mrs. Pfeifer gave the past presidents report, outlining substantial growth in the NDP organization and membership in this constituency. Since the beginning of 1972 membership is already more than three times 1971 membership.

The resolutions committee had received a large number of resolutions from local members. Such resolutions are debated and if passed by local associations, are then submitted to the provincial convention for further consideration, and must be passed by that body before becoming NDP policy.

Lack of time permitted dealing with only a few of the resolutions submitted. Among the resolutions passed for submission to the provincial convention was one asking that old age security pensions and blind pensions be increased to $200 per month without a means test and that all forms of pensions be adjusted to cost of living increases and with relation to the gross national product, so that all pensioners may share in the wealth of the country which they, by their efforts, helped to build.

Roli Cacchioni, president of Okanagan Boundary Federal Constituency NDP Association announced that at least two people are seeking federal nomination.

MUSEUM NOTES

Native Crafts Now On Display

By PRIMROSE UPTON

At the Kelowna Centennial Museum we have on display until the end of this month, a number of beautiful examples of a few of the arts and crafts of our native people, which stretches outside the boundaries of British Columbia, as we have an Iroquois mask and two pueblo pots.

I think it is time our own residents took more interest in some of the art of the so-called primitive people—some do with honest interest, and some do with purely an eye to making a dollar. Unfortunately the latter are in the majority, and are certainly the most vocal. The minority are interested in the native crafts, but always there are the hangers on, some of them do gooders, who always seem to unwittingly aid in exploiting.

Among the most beautiful things on display are those loaned by the Toronto-Dominion Bank in Kelowna. These were made in Squamish of yellow cedar, worked with stone or iron knife, and finished with rubbing and sanding. They are magnificent examples of the work with wood of the Coast Indians. One is a Talking Stick, which when held, entitled that particular speaker the right to make his views known—rather like a good chairman at a modern meeting.

The two others are a handsome thunderbird and a ceremonial mask. Some of them are intentionally grotesque in appearance—in the same vein that gargoyles carved in stone on European cathedrals are grotesque, but the workmanship is beautiful.

There is a pair of beaded moccasins from the Nicola country. The donor obtained them in the early 20s in exchange for three pounds of butter. There are beaded gauntlets, and a beaded belt given to Rev. Arthur Lett who taught at the Indian School at Lytton for many years, encouraging the native arts among his pupils. There are two lovely coiled cedar root baskets from Lytton, examples of some of the best work of these artistic peoples.

There are birch bark baskets from the Interior, as well as some of their buckskins; several items from a burial at Okanagan Centre, including a jade axe, and adzes, and agate points—all buried in the grave to assist with a better life in the Happy Hunting Ground.

Eskimo carvings, from walrus ivory are simple and beautifully made, as are their soapstone carvings. From the northern part of this province are a cedar spirit caller, a very old argyle carving, and two most interesting cedar totems, both by the same artist—one when he was young, and one when he was over 90. The first is a cedar totem 30 inches high done before the turn of the century, and the second about 17 inches high, was done when he was over 90, not too many years ago.

A series of prints done by Wah-Gah, the name given by the Indians to Cliff Robinson, artist of Calgary, then art editor of Indian Time. These give one an idea of the masks, the blankets, the totems, of some of the British Columbia tribes. We have miniature canoes made of birch, and two of wood, a Kwakiutl and a Haida. There are trade beads and a horn spoon from Hazelton, the curve of which was aided by steaming.

Social organization was most important to native tribes and is complicated to understand. Use of masks was confined to members of the clan or secret society using it. Many ethnologists and archeologists have done much study about these masks and totems, and much more will be done.

Alice Ravenhill, in her Native Tribes of British Columbia, says, "Taboos permeated every phase of tribal life. They have been defined as prohibitions imposed by supernatural beings (either directly or through their mouthpieces, the shamans) on the performance of certain specified acts, the consumption of certain foods, use of certain words, and at a particular season of the year or at specified epochs of life."

"Owing to the confusion in the untutored minds between coincidence and consequences, many of these 'taboos' originated in fear, others were imposed by shamans to increase their power over a credulous community, others were possibly prompted by observation of unaccounted-for consequences. Many were trivial, others degrading, but some did possess value."

Most of the articles on display are both beautiful and useful, a few are grotesque, but all display painstaking and intricate workmanship.

Local Clubs Answer Call To Recreation Meeting

RUTLAND (Staff) — The Rutland Park Society and Recreation Commission held its monthly meeting with 45 members present.

There were fifteen organizations represented from all local clubs.

Mrs. L. B. Belzil, Hollydell Road, won the "Name the Theme for May Day" contest with her entry "Togetherness".

The Lion's Club will hold a Bavarian Garden again this year and it was agreed all concessions would be run on a similar sharing basis. As their contribution to the park, the CWL and mother auxiliary to minor baseball have been manning the two hamburger and confection booths for many years and it was felt they should have first chance under the new arrangement.

May day meetings will be held in the Murray Room at 7:30 p.m., March 21, then every Tuesday until May Day. Mrs. Marie Wostrowski will act as secretary and Andre Hoyer will be treasurer.

The ladies auxiliary to the firemen have sponsored the May Queen since the first Queen and are wondering if another group would be interested in taking over.

Delegates to the Zone Conference at East Kelowna, March 25th, will be Clarence Mallach, Ben Lee, Ernie Kroschinsky and Tom Jorsvik.

Work has started on enlarging the Murray Room through the Local Initiative Program and as soon as conditions permit further projects will be starting, including Lion's Park, and the Edith Gay Playground.

Several young people have shown interest in the Opportunity for Youth Program and the park facilities are available in case of inclement weather.

With regard to parking at the Centennial Centre it was noted that in many instances there would be no entry for emergency vehicles — ambulance, fire truck, etc., and it was agreed that all cars not parked properly would be towed away at the owners expense.

Next Park Board regular meeting will be March 28.

Several Items Attended To At Brief Council Meeting

PEACHLAND (Special) — Wednesday night's meeting of the Peachland Municipal Council was one of the shortest meetings for many months, although many items of business were attended to.

Alderman James MacKay was absent, attending a civil defence course in Victoria.

Attending this meeting was Paul Stewart, a resident of Princeton Avenue, who wishes to start a laundromat in the community. He asked council's support for this much-needed business and said plans for a holding tank from which all wastes would be hauled away. In conjunction with this he would also like to develop marine disposal facilities on the lakeshore and facilities for trailers.

He stated such services would be an asset to the tourists in the community. Mayor Harold Thwaite said a laundromat is needed but all plans must meet pollution control and health department standards.

Asked about possible sites for this new business, Mr. Stewart stated he can rent space at the back of the Masonic Hall building or build on two lots behind the hotel, both of which would be suitable. Ald. Des Loan questioned where tank trucks would dump the effluent from such an operation. This has not been settled, Mr. Stewart said, although district contractors wish to bid on this removal.

Council decided to give Mr. Stewart approval in principle for his plans, stressing the pollution control board and health department approval must be obtained.

In response to a letter from the Ladies' Auxiliary to branch 69, Royal Canadian Legion, council authorized $100 grant-in-aid to the ladies, to be used for the care and up-keep of the Peachland cenotaph during 1972.

A letter was read from Beach Avenue resident Ted Topham complaining of the condition of the hill portion of Beach Avenue South. He stated this is one of the worse roads in the municipality. It needs widening and the residents who use this road risk their lives on this narrow hill each winter.

Ald. W. L. Lawrence, roads chairman, in answer, said he agrees the hill should have priority in road work this year.

This brought up the road department's budget for 1972, which has been strained by snow removal costs, $4,630.10 since Jan. 1. Mayor Thwaite, who is also financial chairman for the municipality, stated he will work on a firm budget within the next month so that all departments will be able to make firm plans for spring work.

Peachland assessment, as services, more books in the library and the services of the bookmobile once a week at Deep Creek.

Notice from the Water Rights Branch in Victoria that an application by the Fish and Wildlife Department for water rights on Peachland Creek have been approved.

Ald. W. L. Lawrence reported that while in Vancouver he had again inspected loaders and felt a two-year-old machine for $4,825 would be the best purchase. Mayor Thwaite said $2,500 was in the budget for a loader and felt the municipality couldn't go higher.

Bureaucracy Catches Up

ESQUIMALT, B.C. (CP) — Government bureaucracy has finally caught up with the city of Esquimalt, on Vancouver Island, five years after the fact.

The transport department ordered the city to apply for approval of plans to build a 550-foot breakwater at a local beach. The trouble is, the breakwater was completed in 1966, with federal and city funds.

The city had applied in 1965 to the department of public works to construct the breakwater and the department gave its blessing, but added that "prior consent does not constitute approval of the plans and site of the works."

Paras Say 'They Fired First'

COLERAINE, Northern Ireland (CP) — A group of British soldiers have told the tribunal investigating Londonderry's Bloody Sunday disaster that they were shot at by gunmen in what one sergeant termed the most intense outburst of fire he has seen in Ulster in so short a time.

"I have heard more firing elsewhere but over a longer period," the paratroop sergeant said of the Jan. 30 violence which left 13 civilians dead at the end of an illegal civil rights march.

A lawyer for the relatives of some of the dead accused the sergeant at one point of treating Lord Widgery's tribunal to "a complete invention."

"That is utter rubbish," replied the soldier, who, like the other military witnesses, was not identified by name.

A young private said he saw a pistol being fired which might have killed a youth and injured an old man at a barricade.

A hand with the pistol had appeared at the door of a nearby apartment house.

The soldier didn't fire at the hand because, he said, it was not an identifiable target and there were civilians beyond the barricade.

"The pistol fired two quick shots," the private went on.

"The first one hit the ground at the front of the barricade, ricocheted and hit the old man's arm, which jerked.

"The second appeared to hit the youth. His head jerked away.

The old man shouted, 'He's dead'."

The sergeant told the tribunal on its 13th day of hearings that he spotted a man with a pistol behind a low wall and using a car as cover.

"I saw his hand kick as he fired the weapon," the sergeant said.

He himself fired and hit the gunman, who was taken away by two or three other persons.

The soldier next identified a gunman firing an American-manufactured carbine. The sergeant himself directed fire at the man and saw him fall.

The witness said troops also were being stoned and acid bombs were being thrown from the apartment house.

But he considered the gunmen bad shots and stupid in their behavior.

Britain Battles Inflation In Sudden Series Of Moves

LONDON (AP) — Britons woke up astounded Thursday as news swept the country that high-rising living costs are to be reduced through government-induced price cuts in such staples as sugar, milk and other dairy products.

At the same time, speculation mounted that the government's March 21 budget will contain substantial tax cuts surprises probably aimed at stimulating the consumer market and opening more job opportunities for the unemployed.

General expansion, which would possibly mean a bigger British market for Canadian and other exports, may also possibly lead to reduction in Britain's huge surplus in her international accounts.

But the British pound currently is so strong and the surplus so high that the government probably has concluded it can risk the prospect of a heavy flow of imports if the over-all result is reduced domestic unemployment and a greater measure of industrial peace.

MAY REDUCE CRITICISM

Price cuts also may reduce opposition needling of Prime Minister Heath who promised in his election campaign 20 months ago to reduce prices "at a stroke." Instead, prices kept pushing up, bringing agony to old age pensioners and others trying to subsist on pittance.

Starting next month, a pint of milk, currently costing about 15 cents a pint, will be reduced by slightly more than one cent. A range of other dairy products also is expected to be reduced by a similar amount.

Sugar is to come down immediately by about three cents for a two-pound bag with a further reduction expected later. Potatoes, which normally increase in price this time of year, will be held at current prices.

The government is able to make these moves through subsidies and release of extra potato supplies.

Meanwhile, the National Institute of Economic and Social Research—one of the most reputable organizations in its field—called on the government to reflate the economy by moves that would cost the treasury about $6 billion in a full tax year.

Otherwise, it suggested in a review today, Britain's heavy unemployment will continue. Currently, more than one million Britons are out of work, relatively high for a country which generally had full employment since the Second World War.

The institute's proposals are far more extensive than any placed before Anthony Barber, chancellor of the exchequer, as he prepares for his March 21 budget.

But the general speculation is that he will heed some of the advice, probably making major concessions in consumer taxes which again may have the effect of restraining or reducing prices.

Unions have argued that mounting inflation is one of their major reasons for demanding high wage increases which, in turn, have led to crippling strikes which have hit the economy and raised production costs.

Minister Spurns Critics Of TV-To-North Decision

OTTAWA (CP) — Communications Minister Robert Stanbury has rejected criticism of plans to transmit CBC national television programs to the North by satellite.

He said that, after speaking to northerners during a recent tour, he "found no one in the North that wasn't looking forward to live national television."

And he could see no reason why the domestic communications satellite system could not be used to extend a mixture of national and local radio programming to the North.

A recent report by the Arctic Institute of North America was critical of plans to use Anik, the domestic communications satellite, to carry CBC national television network programs to the North.

The report said: "The implementation of the program, as presently planned, can have a devastating and quite probably irreversible impact on the people of the North."

MIXED PROGRAMMING

The Arctic Institute study group recommended a mixture of local, regional and national television for the North using Anik.

Mr. Stanbury said the northerners he spoke to are concerned the CBC will feel there is no need to do anything more for the North after funneling the southern-style national programming into their zones.

But everyone is looking forward to seeing live national television. Northerners see television as a way to lighten the burden of isolation and as a medium of education, he said.

"The idea that national television is going to destroy some one's culture and the native people therefore wouldn't want television seems to be an idea unique to the southern experts," Mr. Stanbury said.

Some efforts are being made to meet demands for northerners for telephone and radio links across the North, he said.

The communications department has pressed for earth stations which could carry telephone messages and radio programs relayed from the satellite.

He said a string of more than 12 such stations will be built reaching into untouched areas in Baffin and Keewatin.

"It is reasonable for people to expect their national broadcasting service will be flexible enough for them to do programming of local significance as well as receive national programs," Mr. Stanbury said.

PLAN TEMPLE

MONTREAL (CP) — The 135 Montreal members of the Sikh faith have formed a committee to build a domed temple in downtown Montreal for adherents to the Indian religion. There are about 700 Sikhs in the city.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Several Ways To Kill A Germ

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it the many awful spider veins I have. Is there any reason I should not try this?— Mrs. M.R.L.

I don't recommend pouring bleach into a well, but I do encourage precautions against polluted drinking water. The active ingredient in a bleach is chlorine—the label will tell you it is in the form of hypochlorite.

To be effective in destroying germs, you need a concentration of 0.2 to 0.5 parts per million of water, but since you have no way of knowing accurately how much water is in a well, you would have to go by your guesswork, and might put too much, or might not put enough to make the water safe. So that's why I simply do not recommend the attempt.

I do most decidedly urge that you have your private water supply, whether at a summer home, on a farm, or in a locality that does not have city water, analyzed. Contact either your local or provincial health department. They will tell you how to collect a sample for analysis and usually will provide a suitable container. Next step is up to them, to test to see whether the water is safe, and if it is not, to tell you what needs to be done.

Meantime, as a temporary measure with drinking water, there are several methods of purifying. One is to use eight drops of a household bleach containing sodium hypochlorite per gallon of water.

While the chlorine is released quickly and works rapidly, I would suggest waiting an hour after the water has been treated before drinking it. Might as well play safe.

Some drug stores and sports stores have tablets that can be used for the same purpose—when dropped in the water they release chlorine. These tablets come with directions for use. Usually it will be four tablets to a gallon of water.

Still another method is to use ordinary two-per-cent tincture of iodine, which is chemically similar to chlorine, one of the so-called halogen elements. Use 32 drops per gallon.

But I repeat: Use these purification methods only in temporary circumstances. For wells, have the water tested!

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please do not laugh but I am thinking seriously of going to a tattoo artist and having my legs done from the tips of my toes to the very top of my thighs (in one shade, of course) to camouflage

British MPs Grow Restless At Lack Of Ulster Solution

LONDON (CP) — Impatience is growing among MPs in the House of Commons over the new political initiative long expected from the Conservative government in its dealings with crisis-ridden Northern Ireland, where the bombings and shootings continue at an increasingly alarming rate.

The restlessness in Parliament is particularly evident among some Conservative backbenchers. They fear that Prime Minister Heath's administration is planning to abolish the largely autonomous constitution which the majority Protestants in Northern Ireland have dominated for more than 50 years.

Predictably, this worry is expressed with special intensity by the Tory-supporting Ulster Unionists in the Commons.

And there is an ominous note struck by Rev. Ian Paisley, who sits as an independent in the Commons and speaks for many militant Protestants in Ulster. Paisley has concentrated his pressure on challenging Heath to make known any new and sweeping plans for Ulster as soon as possible.

Hovering over his statements is the spectre of a violent Protestant reaction in Ulster if London tries to dilute or eliminate the powers of the government in Northern Ireland.

Reports about the training of a new force of Protestant vigilantes in Ulster, known as the Vanguard, have intensified worry here on this score. So did a threat of reprisals this week against the Irish Republican have only heightened Protestant animosity instead of convincing all sections of the Ulster community that further violence is pointless.

Even before the Saturday restaurant explosion, in which two women were killed and 138 injured, a journalist from the Irish Republic wrote in a Dublin newspaper that "talk of back-lash continues" among Ulster's militant Protestants.

"So do the Craig rallies, the lines of men, the inspections," reported Henry Kelly of the Dublin-based Irish Times.

Vanguard is described as combining Ulster Protestant militants from such organizations as the Orange Order, the now-disbanded B Special auxiliary police force and the Loyalist Association of Workers.

Vanguard goes in for active para-military training sessions and could offer the basis for a full-scale fighting organization that might be used in the struggle against any constitutional change lacking the majority support of Ulster Protestants.

Wednesday, a militant Protestant group long established under the name Ulster Defence Force was reported to have threatened the killing of 10 IRA men for every policeman or soldier murdered in Northern Ireland.

But he has warned the Heath government that the Protestants must be shown the official security forces are ready to launch an all-out offensive against the IRA, if vigilante-style reprisals are to be avoided.

Meanwhile, William Craig, the headline Protestant fired from the Ulster government in late 1968, has gone ahead and joined with other militant members of the Northern Ireland majority in forming the Vanguard movement.

This week's renewal of shootings and explosions and particularly the terrorists' blasting of a Belfast restaurant crowded with women shoppers are reported to
